

RAIN WINNING WEATHER FIGHT

Victoria perched precariously today on the verge of weather warrented to bring snow mixed with rain. Two meteorological factions fought it out for possession of Vancouver Island—a mild and moist disturbance from the Pacific, and a mass of cold Arctic air.

The Island marked the dividing line between the two, with indications that the Pacific storm would slowly force back the cold air.

Temperatures dropped below freezing overnight, but are expected to reach between 35 and 38 degrees later today, remain there tonight and Thursday.

Skies will be cloudy with frequent precipitation. Highway conditions on the Island are generally good. There is about three-quarters of an inch of snow on the Malahat; half-inch in Duncan area, where the highway has been sanded; light snowfall on the Island Highway, Wellington to Bloedel; two inches of new snow in the Alberni area, but the roads are sanded.

In most Greater Victoria areas, snow falling today melted almost as soon as it hit the ground except in sheltered areas, such as Beacon Hill Park (right).

CROSS-COUNTRY DRUG RING PROBED BY RCMP

MONTREAL (CP) — The RCMP said today they are investigating the possibility of the existence of a major drug traffic ring in Montreal that has connections in Toronto and Vancouver.

Inspector Rene Belec of the RCMP said a 25-year-old man was arrested Tuesday in a downtown tavern and 371 capsules of heroin concealed on his person were seized. "I can say now that there may be ramifications in this case in Toronto and Vancouver," the inspector said.

CPA Cracks TCA Monopoly; Given One National Route

One Flight Daily Allowed by Board

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian Pacific Airlines has won approval for a break in the government-owned Trans-Canada Air Lines' transcontinental monopoly, Transport Minister Hees informed the Commons today.

SEE PWA BID FOR TCA RUN ON PAGE 21

Tabling the report of the Air Transport Board on CPA's application for transcontinental domestic franchises, he announced he is prepared to accept these board findings:

1. CPA would operate a scheduled service between Vancouver - Winnipeg - Toronto - Montreal, connecting with CPA's existing international operations.

2. This new service would be limited to one flight a day, on which domestic as well as international passengers could be carried.

3. This arrangement should be reviewed in two years to see whether additional services would be warranted.

4. Where "limited controlled" competition would result in improving the position of regional air carriers, this should be authorized.

5. An extensive investigation of the position of regional air carriers in this connection.

"I have informed the Air Transport Board that I am prepared to accept their findings in regard to the foregoing," Mr. Hees said in his statement to the House.

On another board recommendation—that a substantial part of government work now being performed by the RCAF be transferred to commercial air carriers—the minister said this will require further careful consideration.

He said he proposes to consult with Defence Minister Pearson on this.

While giving CPA part of what it sought—though in a different form from what was asked — the Air Transport Board sharply cut it down from CPA's original proposals.

"The board found," Mr. Hees said, "that additional transcontinental air services could not be introduced at this time without major detrimental effects to existing operations and without economic hardships and possible disadvantages for scheduled airlines including the applicant (CPA)."

3. Vancouver-Winnipeg-Toronto-Montreal.

4. Edmonton-Regina-Toronto.

5. Winnipeg-Ottawa-Montreal.

At hearings in Ottawa last November before the Air Transport Board, CPA suggested the board order TCA to discontinue two of its routes or give CPA a changed route pattern for its proposed transcontinental service.

The two TCA routes proposed to be discontinued were Calgary-Saskatoon and Edmonton-Toronto, which were started by the publicly-owned company in June, 1958.

CPA's argument for the change was that TCA, after CPA applied to the board for its franchise, had taken over two routes which CPA proposed to operate.

province of British Columbia, and that is action by the Parliament of Canada.

"The Peace River crosses the provincial boundary and flows into Alberta. This fact gives us a good reason to stop him, under existing legislation, we have something to say about it."

"I have every confidence that the government will take the proper steps in that connection," Mr. McPhillips said.

In the first part of his speech the Victoria member reviewed the history of the province of British Columbia and how it had fared under successive Conservative and Liberal (federal) governments.

At one point he quoted from an article by Gus Sivertz in what he described as "the good old Liberal Victoria Times."

The member noted that

Cubans Hail Castro's 'Justice'

500,000 Attend Havana Rally

HAVANA (UPI) — An estimated 500,000 Cubans massed before the presidential palace today to roar their approval of revolutionary justice. Havana wore a holiday air, but at least 22 more executions were reported from the interior.

The monster rally was called by Fidel Castro as a demonstration of the people's support for the provisional government's series of "war crimes" trials against the followers of ousted dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Already, more than 200 persons have died before firing squads as a result of these summary trials. Castro has said that 400 to 450 will die before the trials are finished.

NEW TRIALS

Army officials here said that a total of 1,450 will be tried in a new series of trials scheduled to get under way in Havana Thursday. About 600 of these are held in Havana's Cabana fortress.

Two U.S. congressmen and a group of American newsmen have been flown here to witness events in Cuba since Batista's overthrow Jan. 1. Delegations of newsmen from other countries also have been brought in.

Twelve men were executed by firing squads in Pinar Del Rio this morning.

Eight others were executed at Jiguani in Oriente province, and two more at Cardenas in Matanzas province.

Eighteen others have been sentenced to death at Alb Songo in Oriente, the easternmost province of this island republic which was the scene of the fiercest fighting in the rebellion.

ATLAS ROCKET DUE TO FALL

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Smithsonian scientists were about ready today to close the books on 1958 Zeta, the astronomer's name for Atlas, the big American satellite launched last Dec. 18.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory has predicted that it would burn up high in the sky, probably over the Hawaiian Islands.

Batista Man To Be Ousted By Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — A deportation order has been issued in the case of Leo Assino Labrada, former security officer with the Batista regime in Cuba who sought sanctuary in Canada, it was learned today.

The deportation order has been appealed and is expected to be received by the immigration department this week.

Labrada arrived by plane at Montreal's Dorval airport early this week from the Dominican Republic.

The security officer applied to immigration officials at Dorval airport for a temporary 60-day entry permit to visit his daughter, Mrs. Josephine Parres of St. Bruno, Que. His application was rejected and the deportation order issued.

More than 100,000 Indians assembled outside President Rajendra Prasad's residence.

"As the Duke and Nehru arrived there from the airport the cheering, clapping crowd surged through the police cord toward their car. Police were able to restore order, however."

At the airport about 100 school children and adults swamped him with garlands of brilliantly-colored flowers.

Finally, he began garlanding the children.

Bennett to Meet PM As Legislature Sits

By PETE LOUDON, Times Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett will take time out from the legislative session, which begins Thursday to meet with Prime Minister Diefenbaker at Ottawa.

It is expected the premier will miss only two days of the session. He departs by air Jan. 29 and likely will be back Monday, Feb. 3.

The Ottawa talks had been set for late December but were postponed when Prime Minister Diefenbaker's world tour overlapped this date.

Matters to be discussed include a proposal by the prime minister this week for wider use of a committee of provincial deputy finance ministers and economic advisers in discussions of current federal-provincial tax rental arrangements and possible inclusion of provincial finance ministers in such talks, instead of full conferences.

Premier Bennett also is expected to seek an answer to his proposal of last summer that the federal government pay half of B.C.'s above-normal 1958 forest fire-fighting costs—estimated at over $4,000,000 in total.

He also will seek a federal contribution toward the construction of the northern extension of the PGE to Fort St. John and Dawson Creek last year.

Slated for discussion too, are proposed increases in federal aid on highway construction.

It is expected Premier Bennett also will advance his case

Philip Meets Nehru On Arrival in India

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prince Philip arrived in New Delhi today for the first visit by a member of the Royal Family since India gained independence in 1947.

About 2,000 Indians applauded as he stepped from a Comet jetliner and exchanged greetings with Prime Minister Nehru.

Most of the crowd had been waiting for more than three hours because a rare winter fog had closed in the airport and prevented the jet from landing on schedule. The Comet stopped at Agra, 125 miles to the south, until the fog lifted.

The weather also postponed the opening session of the Indian Science Congress' 46th annual convention at which Philip is heading the British delegation.

More than 100,000 Indians assembled outside President Rajendra Prasad's residence.

"As the Duke and Nehru arrived there from the airport the cheering, clapping crowd surged through the police cord toward their car. Police were able to restore order, however."

At the airport about 100 school children and adults swamped him with garlands of brilliantly-colored flowers.

Mikoyan Airborne

ARGENTINA, Nfld. (CP) — A plane carrying Anastas Mikoyan back to Russia via Copenhagen took off from here this afternoon.

Auto Talks Resumed

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Negotiations were resumed here today in an effort to reach an early settlement in the strike of 3,600 Chrysler of Canada workers which began Tuesday.

Suez Forgotten?

CAIRO (AP) — The newspaper Al-Ahram says Britain has asked for renewal of diplomatic relations with the United Arab Republic, broken because of the 1956 Suez invasion.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our Father, Thou dost know the sparrow's fall and art watching over us. Forgive us that we have so little trust in Thee. Thy fatherly care is over us day and night. When the shadows come, may we not doubt the sun. May we know that nothing happens to us that does not happen in part of Thee. So help us to pray, knowing that Thou dost care and art eager to help; through Christ, our Lord. Amen.

19 Briefs Ready For School Probe

Nineteen briefs will be submitted at a two-day sitting of the royal commission on education opening Tuesday in Oak Bay Junior High School. The briefs will be submitted by teachers' groups, Parent-Teacher Associations, various community organizations, private individuals and the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee.

Chairman of the commission is S. N. F. Chant, J. E. Liersch and R. P. Walrod are the other commissioners.

Main purpose of the investigation is focused on the school curriculum.

Ald. A. I. Curtis Friday will present the intermunicipal committee's brief which urges some radical changes including scrapping of the "progressive education" philosophy for more discipline.

It also calls for a reduction in school board supervisory staffs, a point of contention with the Greater Victoria school board.

Although the board will not submit a separate brief, it reaffirmed this week its belief that supervisors are necessary and there should be more rather than less.

McPHILLIPS LASHES BENNETT'S WEN-GREN GIVEAWAY

'Sawdust Caesar' Rankles City MP

By VICTOR MACKIE

OTTAWA—Victoria Conservative MP A. DeB. McPhillips, Tuesday, called on Parliament to stop "the great give-away" of Peace River power to the Wenner-Gren interests.

Mr. McPhillips, speaking in the Throne Speech debate, described Premier Bennett as "this sawdust Caesar who struts around the province like a barnyard rooster talking about the expenditure of millions and millions of dollars."

He lashed out at the Canadian National Railways for its sale of the government dock in Victoria Inner Harbor to Evans, Coleman & Johnson Ltd.

He denounced the CNR for turning over the operation of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel in Montreal to the American Hotel chain of hotels, and criticized the railway for not naming the hotel the Chateau Maisonneuve.

Mr. McPhillips has gained a reputation for ranging over a wide variety of topics in colorful language during his speeches in Parliament. His Throne Speech effort was no exception.

It was in the closing minutes of his address that Mr. McPhillips turned to the Wenner-Gren deal.

"We have a very serious situation there now," he said.

"He (Premier Bennett) may have fooled some, but he did not fool me with all this talk about mineral claims and this and that. No, it was the Peace River water power that they wanted."

"Now, he says, we have not given away anything. 'I have not given away a teaspoonful of water' not yet. What he has done is this. He has put a reserve on that water and that land and only allowed this outfit to go in and make surveys."

"You know what is going to happen when the surveys are completed and they want to use it. No one else will be able to get it because this organization has it under reserve. There is just one hope for stopping this terrible give-away, this terrible steal in the province of British Columbia, and that is action by the Parliament of Canada.

"The Peace River crosses the provincial boundary and flows into Alberta. This fact gives us a good reason to stop him, under existing legislation, we have something to say about it."

"I have every confidence that the government will take the proper steps in that connection," Mr. McPhillips said.

In the first part of his speech the Victoria member reviewed the history of the province of British Columbia and how it had fared under successive Conservative and Liberal (federal) governments.

LONDON—Botanist Jan Gillett jumped into ice-cold Leg of Mutton pond Monday night with a tape measure and proclaimed himself the victim of "petty dictatorship."

The scientist had been fined £10 earlier in the day for skating on the Richard Park pond when the ice was thin and for obstructing a park policeman. Gillett, 40, an expert on African plants, contended there was no danger because the pond was less than five feet deep.

"When there is no danger, a regulation is an offence against the liberty of the subject making use of the park to get exercise and fresh air," he asserted.

After the hearing, Gillett drove to the park, changed into a swim suit and dived into the now-thawed pond.

"There," he shouted, "it's only four feet deep. This is petty dictatorship."

WASHINGTON—Both Andrew W. Roland and Walter L. Stanley showed up in court Tuesday with housing problems.

Roland was being sued on a health department complaint that his home was too small for his family of nine.

In a separate case, Stanley was being sued for not paying his rent. He said his home was too big and expensive for his family of five.

In one stroke, both cases were settled.

Roland and Stanley traded homes.

GARWOOD, N.J.—Mrs. Alice Conway is going to toss down a pint of sherry at the bar of justice.

Then, if she flunks a drunk-

ometer test, Magistrate James T. Leonard says he will find her guilty of drunken driving.

Mrs. Conway is a 63-year-old registered nurse from Plainfield. She was arrested Nov. 13 by a patrolman who found her slumped over the wheel and a jug of sherry in the back seat. A pint was missing.

She said she had taken a nip but was not intoxicated. Leonard agreed Tuesday to let Mrs. Conway down a pint of sherry in court Friday night to prove she can hold her wine.

LONDON—A young $42-a-week London engineer is citing textile millionaire Cyril Lord, 47, in proceedings for a separation from his blonde ex-model wife.

It was reported today that James Hussey, 26, cited Lord in reply to a divorce petition brought by his wife, Shirley, also 26, whom he married in 1955.

Last October Lord's wife, Bessie, filed for a divorce citing Mrs. Hussey.

DETROIT—Mrs. Blanche Hill indignantly called the Detroit housing commission and demanded:

"What happened? I had a seven-room house. Now all I've got is a vacant lot with an elm tree."

Officials said inquiries disclosed a wrecking crew with a bulldozer had gone one house too far in demolition of an area being cleared by the city for factory sites.

Alaska's first elected governor, William A. Egan, 44, remained in critical condition in a Seattle hospital today, but doctors said he is resting comfortably following emergency surgery Tuesday morning.

Longer Appeal Time Urged by Ratepayers

A resolution urging the provincial government to extend the appeal period against assessments on homes was to be considered today by an executive committee of the Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association.

The resolution, petitioning the provincial government to "give all property owners the right of 14 days to appeal from the date of mailing tax notices," was submitted by the North Oyster Ratepayers' Association.

The executive meeting was to be held at the Malahat home of former Victoria mayor Claude Harrison.

(From CP Dispatches)

TRAIL—Mayor L. A. Read of Trail, president of the Association of Kootenay Municipalities, expressed disappointment Tuesday that the area has been overlooked in the itinerary of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

Mr. Read said that after being overlooked last year during the visit of Margaret, the Kootenays should expect some recognition this year.

"I understand," Mayor Read said, "that Prince Philip expresses keen interest in industry. It would appear that he will miss an opportunity to see some of B.C.'s largest industry during the proposed tour. Apparently both the federal and provincial governments have chosen to overlook the Kootenays once again."

Alcan Ban on China Sale To be Queried by Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Pearson said today he will ask the government for assurances that no United States pressure was involved in the decision by the Aluminum Company of Canada not to sell aluminum to Communist China.

He told a reporter he will try to raise the issue at this afternoon's meeting of the Commons in questioning of Trade Minister Churchill. The CCF also plan to question Mr. Churchill on the issue.

A Vancouver dispatch Tuesday quoted exporter William S. Coher as saying the aluminum company refused to sell $1,000,000 worth of aluminum from its Kitimat, B.C. smelter to the Chinese mainland. Mr. Coher said he could not even obtain a firm quotation from the firm's west coast representative.

Aluminum was lifted from Canada's strategic controls list some time ago. These controls are designed to restrict shipment of certain strategic materials to Communist countries. Canadian production was reported curtailed last year because of a reduction in demand.

At Montreal, an Aluminum Company spokesman said the company refused to deal with China because it is not prepared to "hazard relations with its steady customers just to make an immediate sale."

"We would be derelict in our duty if we followed a short-sighted policy for immediate gain if it worked to the eventual disadvantage of our business and to the disadvantage of Canada as a whole," the spokesman said.

Mr. Pearson said he will seek his assurances because he believes the company is under U.S. control. The U.S. government has refused to allow American industry to trade with Red China.

The Aluminum Company said its decision was made in Montreal. Its parent company is Aluminum Limited, a Canadian company.

IN PARLIAMENT

Complacency Charged In Education Field

(From Times News Services)

A member Tuesday accused Canadians of complacency in education and called for stiffer high school courses in mathematics and science to meet Soviet competition.

Fred Stinson (PC - York Centre), referring to rising industrial production in Russia and Red China, said that if the West fails in that economic competition "we will fail because we have become lazy, fat and complacent."

He added: "Nowhere have we become more complacent than in the field of education."

Mr. Stinson said that a study by an Ontario teacher, Anthony Frisch of Brampton, has shown Canadian high schools trail Soviet schools by two years or more in teaching mathematics and science.

The report showed that in British Columbia mathematics courses trailed the Soviet courses by three years and in physics did not attempt to teach most of the work covered in the last 2½ years of the Soviet high schools.

"In the Atlantic provinces, the teaching of mathematics and science falls even further behind."

HEALTH MINISTER
MONTEITH

Commons was informed Tuesday by Mr. Monteith that he has received report from Lt.-Gen. H. D. Graham on Canada's civil defence set-up. Details of survey will be released in a few days.

Winter Works Program Under Fire

The government's winter works program, designed to create jobs during the slack winter months, is producing meagre results, Liberal opposition members charged Tuesday.

The question of mounting unemployment and the federal program to help municipalities create winter jobs got the big play during the second day of the 10-day throne speech debate.

Hubert Badanai (L-Fort William), for eight years mayor of the Lakehead city, said the government should do more for municipalities than its current program.

The federal assistance amounting to half the labor costs involved in special municipal projects that would not normally be undertaken in winter—had in fact given work to only 120 men in Fort William, he said.

Mr. Badanai said the government should make loans to municipalities at low interest rates. This would enable them to finance public works projects.

Meanwhile, H. J. Robichaud (L-Gloucester) said only about two per cent of the unemployed would get work from the government's highly-publicized winter works program. That was only a drop in the bucket and another example of the government's lack of foresight.

Echart Regier (CCF, Burnaby-Coquitlam), also dealing with unemployment, brandished a newspaper photograph of an unemployed man sleeping under newspapers in a Vancouver parking lot.

He said it is time Canada took another look at its $1,700,000,000 defence expenditures. Not attending to the needs of the unemployed would do

Mikoyan Calm In Air Mishap

ARGENTIA, Nfld. (UPI)—A substitute Scandinavian Airlines (SAS) DC-7C landed at this U.S. naval air station shortly before noon today to pick up Deputy Soviet Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan and 34 stranded other passengers bound for Europe.

Mikoyan's plane was scheduled to fly non-stop from New York to Copenhagen, Denmark, but made a forced landing Tuesday night when two of its four engines went out of commission.

One engine of the plane had a burned-out supercharger with a fire lasting about five seconds, and another was feathered—that is, out of operation.

It was snowing when the plane arrived. Crash trucks and other emergency equipment lined the field but the landing was made without incident.

The high-ranking Soviet official told newsmen he was not alarmed when the plane developed engine trouble 200 miles south of the southern tip of Newfoundland. The pilot, Capt. A. Schultzeberger of Stockholm made a ground controlled landing here.

"I was more concerned about the other passengers and children," Mikoyan said. "After all, I have lived a long life."

Mikoyan was taken on a guided tour of the commissary.

NEW WAR CRIMES TRIAL

Nazi Killed 'Thousands'

ANSBACH, Germany (AP)—Karl Chmielewski, commander at the Nazi concentration camp at Mauthausen, was charged today with 175 counts of murder.

His trial, one of the biggest war crime proceedings before a German court, is expected to start soon.

The state prosecutor said Chmielewski actually had tortured and killed thousands of Mauthausen prisoners from many nations. He said the charges were limited to 175 counts to shorten the trial.

The trial will centre on the notorious "operation death bath" in which hundreds were stripped, then sprinkled with water at sub-freezing temperatures until they collapsed with frozen limbs, fell into a pond and drowned.

The prosecution contends that Chmielewski ordered this death for hundreds who were physically unfit for slave labor.

Fine Oratory, No Policy

MR. DIEFENBAKER'S answer to Mr. Pearson's criticism in Parliament this week boils down to three points: The nation's present problems are a legacy from the former Liberal Government; the Conservative Government is curing the crisis; and Mr. Pearson is doing the nation grave damage by frightening it.

In blaming the former Government for everything Mr. Diefenbaker returns to the shop-worn slogans of the last two elections which hardly need to be fought over again now. He abandons his recent—and true—version of the Canadian business recession as a backwash from a continental recession.

These post mortems are of little use today. The Diefenbaker Government has been in office for 18 months, it cannot escape its responsibilities in this period by blaming its predecessor and the public is entitled to know how it intends to grapple with the grim paradox of inflation and unemployment.

On that question Mr. Diefenbaker is exceedingly vague. He says, no doubt truthfully, that his Government has done something to cushion the worst effects of the recession by a vast expenditure of public money. Unfortunately, however, those policies have fallen far short of the great cure promised last spring and they have produced a grave financial crisis without putting the unemployed back to work.

It was to be expected, perhaps, that Mr. Diefenbaker would try to disguise the Government's miscalculations by another exhibition of parliamentary eloquence but oratory butters no parsnips, creates no jobs, does nothing to arrest inflation and prescribes no remedy for the financial crisis. That, indeed, is the largest disappointment in the prime minister's speech—it fails altogether to recognize the nature of the crisis.

How does the Government propose to close the budgetary gap which has created new inflationary money, driven down bond prices, raised interest rates, increased prices and restricted investment?

Mr. Diefenbaker's only reply is that the Government has done its best to help the unemployed, a worthy objective, but he fails to see or, at any rate, does not admit that financial disorder must worsen the unemployment problem.

When the Opposition cites the undoubted economic and financial facts Mr. Diefenbaker resorts to a time-honored ploy of politics. Mr. Pearson, he says, is merely spreading gloom, undermining public confidence and aggravating our difficulties. In short, he is doing exactly what Mr. Diefenbaker did for years when he was in Opposition.

Nevertheless, Mr. Diefenbaker believes that the recession is gradually ending despite the mistakes of his predecessors. He is probably right.

But another paradox and an even stronger inflationary force will face the Government as soon as business improves substantially. For then the huge accumulation of government bonds sold to the banks when they could not be sold to the public will be unloaded on the market as the banks seek cash to be loaned to business borrowers. Unless something is done to prevent it, bond prices will fall still further, interest rates will rise higher and the new money supply, temporarily restrained, will bid up prices.

Mr. Pearson's speech outlines all those dangers. Mr. Diefenbaker's speech vainly tries to whistle them down or blame them on somebody else. This is a discouraging start for a parliamentary session which must grapple with conditions as they are or assure a worse crisis.

Child and Water Buffalo

WESTERN READERS ARE frequently reminded of the contest for the hearts and minds of men in the continuing struggles of the cold war.

This, in global proportions, bears a parallel to the technique of winning friends and influencing people. It is a process, whether it be initiated for strictly humanitarian reasons or for enlightened self-interest, that demands first some understanding of the hearts and minds of people who are to be won.

And that understanding is made infinitely difficult by the great distance which separates people of North America inhabiting the peaks of a high living standard, from those at the bottom of the economic crevasse.

Mr. Harry B. Ellis, Mediterranean correspondent for The Christian Science Monitor, provides an index of the difference in a report from Cairo.

Writes Mr. Ellis: "The average income of an Egyptian peasant is £20 or $56 a year. The price of a water buffalo is about £100.

"By comparison, an American worker earning $5,000 annually would need to spend $25,000 to buy an automobile. But to such a worker an automobile would be a luxury. To an Egyptian peasant a water buffalo is an absolute necessity, as motive power for plowing fields and turning water wheels.

"Thus in the past—and even today in most of Egypt—many peasants literally place the welfare of their buffalo ahead of that of their children, for if the buffalo died it could not be replaced, thus causing disaster to the entire family."

How does a North American, with conventional concepts of life, begin to approach the heart or the mind of a people where economic pressures have placed the welfare of a beast of burden above that of its own children in the basic struggle for survival?

Not at the Castle

PROPOSALS TO ERECT AN administrative building for the School Board on the grounds of Craighdaroch Castle will no doubt run into strong opposition from both official and private sources.

With the future of other civic buildings, including a new city hall, still in a state of flux, it does not appear logic to sink $75,000 in construction of office accommodation which might soon be available elsewhere. When it is considered that an adjacent permanent building would spoil the site of the castle such an expenditure appears even more ill-advised.

The castle is not particularly suitable for School Board offices. Sooner or later it will be taken over for a more obvious purpose, perhaps as a museum, and the Board will obtain the larger and more efficient quarters it obviously needs.

While such plans are being considered, a large expenditure for a new office building beside the castle could prove to be wasted money. Surely temporary accommodation at less expense can be found.

Warmth on Ice

ALMOST CONTEMPORARY with the visit to the United States of Anastas Mikoyan, Russia's deputy premier, was a tour by an all-star Soviet ice hockey team.

Mr. Mikoyan is on his way home. The hockey team has also left the United States. But where the manner of Mr. Mikoyan's going created a sour note among his hosts, the departure of the hockey players appears to have left nothing but pleasant recollections.

The athletes played good, fast hockey, with a minimum of body contact on their part. When heavy checking was initiated by opponents, the Russians took their bumps and came up smiling.

In the field of diplomacy, undoubtedly Mr. Mikoyan outranked the touring team. In the achievement of diplomatic success the honors went to the sportsmen—a group that showed both ability and sportsmanship.

Resurrecting An Old Idea

HAM RICHARSON, THE United States top flight tennis player who was passed over for the Davis Cup singles in Australia, has announced that he will confine himself to "social tennis" in the future.

Here, it appears, is another straw in the wind of athletic revolution quietly in progress. An amateur tennis player is reverting to the principles of amateurism, playing for the fun of it. Who knows? This may lead to a return of sport to sport.

GOODBYE TO ALL THAT

The Too-Popular Anthem

By B. A. TOBIN

THE West German news release says, "The East German national anthem, introduced by the Pankow puppet government five years ago, is a plagiarism of 'Goodbye Johnny,' a popular pre-war hit tune. It has now been revealed. 'Goodbye Johnny' was originally written by Peter Kreuder, one of Germany's top tune-smiths, for the 1933 film, 'Water for Cantoga,' and immediately became a runaway best seller in the record business. Until about two years ago, Kreuder was happily unaware of the fact that the East German government had appropriated his melody. That is, until the day he played to an audience of 3,000 at Leipzig, East Germany, at the annual fair. As his orchestra launched into the evergreen 'Goodbye Johnny,' Kreuder watched in amazement as the East Germans among the public rose from their seats and stood to attention. They thought the orchestra was playing their anthem..."

Tobin

The Brown Jug was on a Berlin side street just off a broad avenue which I think was the Kurfuersten Damm. When you left about midnight you crossed the street to the fat old lady who stood under an umbrella on the corner.

You said "Bratwurst," and she reached into the steaming container and brought out a couple of small browned sausages, the most delicious of the half-dozen varieties she kept in stock. Then you said, "Durchschneiden, bitte," and she would slice them into halves.

You stood around the corner for a few minutes, eating the sausages and telling each other how good they tasted. They did taste good, too, after drinking beer and singing at the Brown Jug for a couple of hours or more. Then you walked on home.

The news release says: "Armed with evidence, Kreuder has instructed his solicitor and the Austrian Society for the Protection of Composers' Rights to sue East Germany for a royalty of $60,000. The case is now in the hands of a court..."

The Brown Jug was part restaurant, part beer parlor. Most of the floor space was filled with small tables but a separate, raised portion was given over to a long table paralleled by wooden benches. It was at this board that a lot of Americans met most evenings—students, younger fellows from the U.S. Embassy, a few others.

I used to go along occasionally with a couple of friends from our boarding house: a young Chicagoan named Angus Thuermer and a Londoner by the name of Johnny Gibbon. Usually we all sat and talked, but now and then somebody would start up a song and we'd all join in. Some had been away from home for quite a while and Stephen Foster's stuff was pretty popular with them.

The main attraction at the Brown Jug was the musical accompaniment to all the talk and singing. A pair of German twin brothers, short, dark-haired, always smiling, sat at two grand pianos and played and sang for hours. One of the songs most in demand on those shortly-prewar evenings was "Goodbye Johnny."

The news release says: "Not that Kreuder has any illusions about ever getting any money from the East Germans—whether the court decides in his favor or not. But he insists on going through with the case 'just for the fun of it.' He says that, even though he is sure he won't get a penny out of it, he wants it to be established as a matter of record that the East German anthem is nothing but a note-for-note copy of his pop tune."

It was a German song but the first line of the chorus was in English, "Goodbye Johnny, goodbye Johnny..." It was a catchy tune; I never learned many of the words but it rings in my head now as though it were only yesterday that I heard it.

Johnny Gibbon had made friends with the pianists on various visits and they often played request numbers for them. The night I have in mind was a special occasion. Johnny, who had come to Berlin to learn German, had been called home to his job. He had scurried around town paying off his small debts and now, with what remained, he was having a last splash at the Brown Jug.

The pianists heard that this was a farewell appearance and went out of their way to make it a gala evening for the crowd of foreigners at the long table.

The climax came as we prepared to leave. The twin brothers broke into "Goodbye Johnny" and sang and played as they never had before. Then they autographed the sheet music they had used and presented it to Johnny Gibbon. The Bratwurst was especially tasty that night. But we sensed that we wouldn't be having many more. We walked the long way home through the empty, echoing streets, and climbed the four flights of stairs to the apartment.

The news release says: "The whole affair, which has caused sneers and snickers in both West and East Germany, will put the Pankow regime in an embarrassing spot. In future it will hardly be avoidable that East Germans, on hearing the lyrics of 'Goodbye Johnny,' And that is the real kicker to the story. For the refrain of Kreuder's 1933 song, translated, is: 'In 50 years things will look a different way. Don't let your hearts be broken by what is today.'"

I don't suppose the song writer ever imagined his words would some day become a powerful propaganda weapon in a cold war.

Johnny left the next morning. As the war clouds settled lower in succeeding weeks we learned that he had won the army commission he hoped for. I left shortly afterwards. Angus stayed on a while longer and we have corresponded through the years. But we never again heard of Johnny.

As Our Readers See It

British Reply

I think many of your readers would like to see what I shall quote from Time, Jan. 12, 1959. I may have missed it but cannot recall seeing it in your paper, concerning the answers of the Western powers to Khrushchev's insolent notes to them. I quote:

"It was the British, hitherto the politer, who delivered the sharpest retort to the insulting distortions of history implicit in Khrushchev's Berlin note. With tongue in cheek, the British wondered why, among other historical documents, the Russians did not mention the 1939 Molotov-Ribbentrop pact that 'made the outbreak of war inevitable,' called Munich a lesson in appeasement to heed in Britain now, and cuttingly recalled that because the Soviet Union had failed to honor the freedom-of-religion, press, speech and voting promised in the 1945 Potsdam agreement, some 2,000,000 Germans have left East Germany rather than endure any longer the social system which exists there."

(Mrs.) ADELA P. BASTIN, 2519 Cranmore Road.

Clad In a Year's Interest

A few days ago I had to buy a flannel jacket. It cost me almost exactly, at a sale, the amount of money which a savings bank pays on $1,000 for a period of one year.

No wonder most retired people have a hard time in making ends meet. ALMOST RETIRED.

Cuban Violence

In all this hullabaloo by U.S. Congressmen and other high-minded people about the summary courts-martial in Cuba for tortures and underworld gangsters of the Batista regime, it is perhaps well to be reminded of a prophecy made last April by Joseph Martin and Phil Santora of the New York Daily News, who, fresh from Cuba, wrote that the world must understand "for instance, that when a young girl is raped by a police chief while his grinning cops hold back the anguished father, the day of reckoning can include no mercy."

It is all too typical of public sentiment in America that, while little even was known of the blood-letting and torturing by the Batista regime over recent years, now a great furor is roused by holier-than-thou politicians and so-sisters when summary justice is handed out to Batista's gang of villains. There is perhaps one feature of the Cuban revolution in which Canadians may more generally take satisfaction—satisfaction that the leader of at least one little country in the western world has the intestinal stamina to tell Uncle Sam: "I won't sell out to the Americans, nor will I take orders from them." One can think of a few people not very far from Ottawa who might emulate Fidel Castro in some respects. C. K. MORISON, 3226 Windsor Road.

Essential Services

If people leave things on the garbage can, or near it, they deserve to lose them and not blame the garbage men. There are many men out of work who would not take the poorly-paid, unpleasant job.

What groups of civic employees are more important to the health and welfare of any city than the men who collect our garbage, the men who clean our streets, and the men who go down the manholes to keep our sewers working?

Don't turn your nose up when you meet them. We could not do without them. LUCY NEWBIGIN.

Berlin and Mikoyan

By JOSEPH ALSOP, From Washington

THE three guarantors of West Berlin, Britain, France and the United States, now stand committed to the use of force to keep open all the means of access to Berlin, both by land and by air, if the need arises. Prior to Anastas Mikoyan's return to Washington, discussions of the so-called "contingent plan" for the defence of Berlin took place between Deputy Secretary of State Robert Murphy and the British and French ambassadors, Sir Harold Caccia and Herve Alphand. The foregoing broad commitment was the first result of these discussions.

Alsop

If adhered to, the commitment forecloses the easy way out that was taken last time, the resort to an airlift to circumvent a land blockade of Berlin. In part, the easy way out has been rejected because a second resort to an airlift would amount to acceptance of a Soviet right to impose a land blockade at will. It would therefore amount, in and of itself, to concealed acceptance of a considerable defeat.

Mainly, however, the airlift idea has been rejected because the whole city of Berlin simply cannot be supplied by airlift any longer. As previously reported in this space, the Soviets have now installed radar-jamming apparatus, to prevent radar-guided air landings in Berlin.

Greater Requirements

In addition, the living city of today has a vastly greater supply requirement than the dead city of 1948. Hence Berlin, despite all its huge reserve stocks, cannot be sustained for much more than eighteen months by an airlift limited to daylight, fair weather landings.

It is a great gain for the policy of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, that the weakness of the easy way out has been squarely faced by Berlin's guaranteeing government. The secretary is grimly determined to defend Free Berlin, even if he has to die in the breach.

His attitude is plainly indicated by his choice of Deputy Secretary Murphy to carry on the discussions of the contingent plan with the British and French ambassadors.

Robert Murphy, Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Aneurin Bevan (then a member of the British cabinet) were the oddly assorted trio who fought, last time, for a tank column to break Joseph Stalin's Berlin blockade.

President Harry S. Truman was entirely willing to follow the policy proposed by Gen. Clay and Murphy, who was then Clay's political adviser. But in 1948, the impassioned pleas of Clay and Murphy for a tank column were equally passionately resisted by the American Joint Chiefs of Staff, although at that time the United States still enjoyed a monopoly of nuclear weapons.

Cardinal Mistake

The result was the resort to an airlift. Murphy still holds this was a cardinal mistake, despite the 1948 airlift's success in relieving the beleaguered city.

According to report, the passage of time and the total collapse of the American nuclear monopoly have not altered Murphy's views about the right way to respond to an attempted blockade of Berlin. On this occasion, Murphy, the advocate of a tank column, has the solid support of the American chiefs of staff.

He also has the new and quite irrefutable argument that an airlift will not work any longer, because of the Soviet radar-jamming apparatus.

Facing this unpleasant fact was the hardest step to take. It is, to be sure, only a first step.

Discussion of the contingent plan for Berlin began in Bonn after the Paris NATO meeting. The centre of discussion was then transferred to Washington; yet only the most languid effort to reach agreement was made until Secretary Dulles, America's one-man state department, returned from his vacation.

Serious Gap

When the one-man state department was fully functioning again, he observed a serious gap in his situation. As yet, there was no finally agreed contingent plan for Berlin's defence. Dulles then gave Murphy the task of filling the gap.

This is the reason why the broad commitment above-cited has not yet been "staffed out" in detail. There are many different ways and times and places to respond to the kind of challenge which Nikita Khrushchev has threatened.

It is even possible to conceive of a response by limited airlift. Such an airlift would supply the Allied garrisons in the city, and would be accompanied by the promise to send a tank column if the civil traffic to Berlin were interrupted by the East German government.

Sharply Opposed

It must be said, however, that this way of dodging a challenge to the right of Anglo-Franco-American military traffic to use the roads and railways, is obviously vulnerable to salami tactics. This expedient is therefore sharply opposed by Murphy and Dulles.

Meanwhile, the state department has let it be known that all the long talks with Mikoyan produced no sign of any softening in the Soviet position on Berlin. Against this background, even although the "staffing out" process is still to be completed, the decision already taken about Berlin is a very solemn matter.

Radioactive Tombs

NEW YORK—The tombs of radioactive waste are becoming as elaborate and as expensive as those for mummies of the ancient Pharaohs.

This comment was made by a scientist of the Second United Nations International Conference on the peaceful uses of atomic energy, and quoted in a current report from the World Health Organization. It sums up the problem of disposal of radioactive wastes which, even in these dawning years of the nuclear age, has already become wor-

An American scientist pointed out that sea organisms concentrate radioactivity, and that plankton, tiny marine plants and animals, found in the Bikini test area in the Pacific, contained 470 times more radioactivity than the water surrounding them. He said that deep water organisms being eaten by higher forms would pass radioactivity eventually up to the surface.

Both Britain and United States have been dumping wastes into the sea although the report says these have been "of a kind and on a scale which so far gives no cause for concern."

British disposal at sea has consisted almost entirely of low-intensity liquid wastes which are piped two miles out to sea. The main fission products are previously removed and stored inland.

Russian scientists, however, took a very strong line at the conference and reported that even mildly radioactive wastes in Russia are sealed in concrete ditches.

The report notes that "there is always the risk, even in peaceful uses, of an accident." At the Geneva conference a detailed report was given of the "burnout" of the British reactor at Windscale, Cumberland, the most serious atomic accident to date. (Canadians will also recall the accident at Chalk River when a reactor went wild.)

The report also notes that "radioactivity knows no frontier." It was pointed out that there are "stationary sources of danger" such as reactors and that there soon will be mobile sources—ships and perhaps aircraft as well as radioactive materials being transported.

It was noted that these dangers are of international concern and will require international regulation. Radioactivity is one more reason why a contracting and explosive world needs an international organization.

The problems will be discussed at five separate UN atomic conferences scheduled for this year.

By WALLACE REYBURN

A Bit of Old London

LONDON—I've just had a letter from Mrs. Margaret Murray, of Wychwood Park, which I remember as a delightful part of Toronto from the days before the war when I used to live there with the Wallace family.

Mrs. Murray had read my piece about London's old lamp-posts being taken away and how some Londoners, sorry to see them go, are buying them and having them installed in their front driveways.

She feels they might give a novel touch to Wychwood Park or for any other Toronto property for that matter and asks whether it would be possible for Canadians to buy them.

I had a chat with the local borough engineer and he said by all means. These lamp-posts are as antiques, being London's original organized street-lighting. Designed at the beginning of last century, he told me.

In our borough of St. Marylebone they've already done away with 200 of them, 40 which have been bought by local people for a novel garden adornment. They're easy enough to wire up. They're hollow up the centre and you just take a lead-out from the house up through the post to the electric fitting in the glass lantern on the top.

Apart from the 40 sold, the rest of the 200 have gone for scrap metal. But there are going to be plenty more available for buyers. In our borough alone there are another 1,300 of these old lamp-posts still doing service and gradually in the coming months these are going to be replaced by the new lighting system.

The lamp-posts cost £6 ($16.80) each—£3 for the lamp, £3 for the post. They're 12 feet-high and weigh 5 cwt, so I checked with Canadian Pacific as to how much it would cost to ship one to Toronto. It took them a while to work it out. Skipping a London lamp-post to Canada was a new one on them. But they said a pretty accurate estimate would be £20 ($56).

Latest craze in London's smart set is what they call "Inflation English." This involves calling "wonderful," "two-dollar," a Tudor house becomes a five-gone conclusion, etc., etc. I wonder why.

Christmas Berries Should be Sown Now

The bushy pot plants bearing bright orange-red berries winter are known by a variety of common names such as Jerusalem-cherry, Christmas-cherry, and also Capism.

In most seed catalogues they will be found under the botanical name of planum capistrum and to have fully-becoming plants for next Christmas, the seed should be sown now.

When the plants are 4 inches high, the growing tip of each must be pinched out to induce branching.

As spring advances, gradually accustom the plants to fresh air, so that by the end of May they will be hardy enough to be planted outdoors.

Remove from pots with root balls intact, and plant in rich soil in full sun 15 inches apart. Be sure that they are never short of water, for any check in growth will result in poor flowering.

The tips of all side shoots should be pinched out at the end of the first week of June and again in the fourth week.

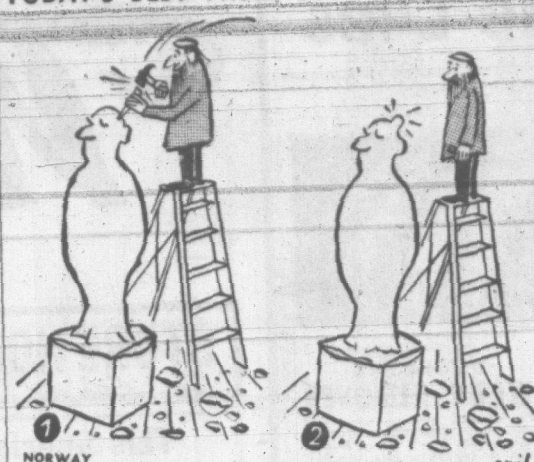

These ornamental cherries will make enormous specimens if treated in this way. They are dug early in September, before the first expected frost, for your district, and carefully potted up into 6 or 7-inch pots.

After a few days shaded from sun, the plants must be kept in the sunniest place available indoors for continued development of berries and subsequent coloring. Temperature need not be higher than 55 degrees F.

By the end of February they should be making growth quite rapidly and will need a move into larger pots, probably 3½ or 4-inch.

MIKOYAN VISIT ANALYZED

'Temperature Reader'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government may take months to appraise what Anastas Mikoyan did to the United States. It hopes to know in about two weeks what the United States did to Mikoyan.

The Russian deputy premier left Washington Tuesday on his trip back to Moscow. Ostensibly, he was on a holiday and wanted to see what changes had taken place since his last U.S. visit two decades ago.

At the state department you hear most frequently one guess about Mikoyan's main purpose. As one U.S. official summed it up, he wanted "to take our temperature on Berlin."

President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles are hopeful that Mikoyan will try to impress on Premier Nikita Khrushchev that the United States is determined not to back down over Berlin. They hope Mikoyan was convinced that if Russia and East Germany press the issue of Western withdrawal too far they will have an extremely dangerous situation on their hands.

The impact made on Moscow by Mikoyan's travels and observations may become clear first of all.

The Soviet Communist party's 21st congress is due to begin Jan. 27. Mikoyan is expected to make a major speech.

It most likely will reflect his feelings about the United States and relate much that he saw here. Also, what Khrushchev tells the congress may well show whether Mikoyan's report had any effect on Berlin policy.

THE TONE IMPORTANT

Beyond this, the tone of the whole congress should provide evidence as to whether the Soviet government is prepared to follow up Mikoyan's goodwill tour with specific new proposals for improving relations.

State department officials generally view Mikoyan's goodwill tour with specific new proposals for improving relations.

State department officials generally view Mikoyan's coast-to-coast tour as tremendously successful from his point of view. He paraded an image of a sharp-eyed, smiling man with boundless energy and a friendly interest in everybody's problems.

This could have some effect on what people think about U.S. foreign policy in disputes with the Russians. State department officials say confidently it will not work against

Troops Take Control Of Argentine Utilities

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A general strike against President Arturo Frondizi's austerity program today appeared to be about over but the government pressed ahead with measures to maintain public order.

Security forces were directed to take control of all public utilities. Argentina remained generally calm, however, with only a few isolated incidents reported.

Soldiers occupied the central telephone exchange of La Plata, capital of Buenos Aires province. Troops also took over installations there of the huge Argentine Electric Company, which is largely European owned.

The strike began Sunday as an attempt by Communists and followers of ousted dictator Juan E. Peron to wreck Frondizi's belt-tightening program and win another round of wage increases. The program is designed to halt inflation and put this bankrupt country back on a sound economic basis.

Movies' Cecil B. DeMille Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Cecil B. DeMille, whose spectacular productions made him the movies' most famous and successful director, died today. He was 77.

A heart attack claimed the man who was one of the founders of Hollywood. He died at his home at 5:30 a.m. after an illness of a week.

With him was a daughter, Cecilia, and her husband, Joseph Harper. His wife, Constance, was in the house but not at the bedside. She also has been ill. Another daughter, Katherine, was born in Vancouver, B.C., and is the wife of actor Anthony Quinn.

DeMille made more than 70 films, both directing and producing many. He spent money in amounts that awed even Hollywood's free-spending studio heads.

BOX OFFICE RECORDS

But it paid off. Picture after picture set box office records. Several of his films became screen classics.

He was amazingly active right up until he was taken

'New Religion' Founder Here On Thursday

A man who believes the answers to all of life's problems can be found in the first three chapters of Genesis arrives in Victoria Thursday to expound what he terms "a new religion."

"It will reveal a vital message," he says. "It will give a completely new meaning to life. If you are a thinker, do not fail to hear this message."

British-born Alfred Parker, 61, of Vancouver, founded the Kabbalistic Philosophy Foundation in 1926 "in order to solve human problems and to serve humanity through wisdom."

Named after the Kabbalah, a system of occult theosophy and mathematical interpretation of life and the Scriptures as developed by Jewish rabbis in the Middle Ages, Mr. Parker's "new religion" centres around a unique interpretation of the Bible, particularly of Genesis.

SOLVES ALL

"It (this interpretation) gives man the solution to all his problems, material and personal. Only through the knowledge and application of this esoteric key can man save himself from destruction through his own ignorance."

Former auto mechanic, Mr. Parker has chartered a 62-passenger aircraft and another plane to make the flight to Victoria. He will be accompanied by more than 100 students of his philosophy.

His talk will be heard at the Empress Hotel at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The Kabbalistic Philosophy Foundation has centres in Calgary, Edmonton, San Francisco and Los Angeles, as well as students all over the world.

Canada Trade Mission Opens W. Indies Tour

MONTGOMERY BAY, Jamaica (CP)—Members of the Canadian economic mission to the West Indies were dinner guests Tuesday night of the Jamaican government on the eve of their departure for Trinidad.

The 37-man mission was to leave later today on the 1,200-mile flight to Port of Spain to continue an investigation into ways of increasing two-way trade between Canada and the West Indies.

Host at the government dinner was Willis O. Isaacs, Jamaica's minister of trade and industry. He referred to formal and private talks Canadians have had with Jamaicans during the last six days and said he looks upon it as a duty to see that trade between Jamaica and Canada is increased.

ill. The last film he actively produced was The Ten Commandments. But he supervised production of The Buccaneer and was making plans for a new film about Lord Robert Baden-Powell, who founded the Boy Scouts.

DeMille entered show business as an actor. In 1912, at a luncheon with a glove salesman named Samuel Goldwyn and a vaudeville comedian named Jesse Lasky, the three decided to take a fling at the new medium of motion pictures.

They formed a company, acquired rights to The Squaw Man and sent DeMille west to make it into a movie.

He rented half a barn in a suburb known as Hollywood—and the rest is history. DeMille, the late Lasky and Goldwyn became the moguls of Hollywood.

SEEN BY BILLIONS

DeMille has estimated that his films have been seen by more than 5,000,000,000 people—roughly twice the earth's population. Box office returns are nearing $1,000,000,000.

He developed more stars than any man in the business—and made himself as well known as any of them.

DeMille's trade marks were battles, violent storms, lavish banquets, great fires, chases, mobs, milk baths for leading ladies—and impassioned love-making.

LOOKED THE PART

He lived up to the public's idea of a Hollywood movie-maker. For years he wore puttees and carried a megaphone, barking orders on the set.

Anecdotes about his strictness are legion. But he had a soft side and often apologized later for harsh words.

He made his first version of The Ten Commandments in 1923, pouring nearly $1,500,000 into it. The movie held the box office record for Paramount Studio for 25 years.

Other DeMille pictures on the grand scale were Reap the Wild Wind, Samson and Delilah and The Greatest Show on Earth.

The second Ten Commandments, made in 1956, was the biggest of all, however. It cost nearly $12,000,000, used thousands in its cast, and ranks as one of the greatest box office attractions of motion picture history.

DeMille was born Aug. 12, 1881, in Ashfield, Mass. His father was a school teacher who studied for the ministry at one time. It was from his father's habit of reading the Bible aloud each night that DeMille absorbed his feeling for the epic qualities of religion that marked his movie-making career.

TRUSTEES DIVIDED, MAYOR ADAMANT

New School Board Office at Craigdarroch Opposed

Mayor Percy Scurrell said today he will oppose proposed construction of a Greater Victoria School Board administration building on the grounds of Craigdarroch Castle.

School board members appeared divided themselves on the issue at a meeting Monday.

Trustee William Gelling said "it would be a crime" to erect the $75,000 administration building on the property to supplement board offices in the castle.

NO PERMIT

Trustee Gelling said that the building would spoil potential use of the castle as a museum and "anyway this property is zoned for residential use and I don't believe we would be granted a building permit by the city."

Mayor Scurrell agreed emphatically. "I would definitely be against rezoning the property for that purpose," he said. "I think it would be a terrible mistake to put up an administration building on the property."

"As the years pass, that castle is going to become more and more valuable as a tourist attraction and surely there is some way it can be acquired for a museum. That certainly is my hope."

IN NEW HALL
"If and when we get a new City Hall, it is my idea that we should provide room in it for the school board's offices," he said.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, a member of town planning commission, also said he would vote against rezoning the property to allow the construction because "it would be a shame to build there."

He said it would be more advantageous to the school board to find a suitable site elsewhere for an administration building instead of expanding its "makeshift" quarters at the castle.

However, Trustee R. H. Reeve argued that the board should go ahead with construction of the building, part of a bylaw for new schools approved by ratepayers several years ago.

"I think we should go quietly ahead and mind our own business," he said.

Trustee Gelling countered that there was no "emergency" in the matter of office space.

I think we can make better use of the space we have in this building (the castle)."

WITH CAUTION

Kenneth Leeming, acting board chairman, said he favored proceeding with caution.

"If the castle is to be turned into a museum piece at some future date, we should explore the possibility of obtaining space in any new City Hall or of an entirely new administration building," he said.

8 Victoria Daily Times
WEDNESDAY, JAN. 21, 1959

of the board's education committee who made the recommendation for construction, said: "Unless we make a move now there will not be enough space for the staff in the future."

The school board referred the recommendation to its buildings and grounds committee for further study.

Former Legislature Officer Dies at 75

Sergeant-at-arms in the B.C. legislature for 12 years Captain W. R. "Cap" Webster died Sunday at Shaughnessy Hospital, Vancouver. He was 73.

He was a member of the 54th Battalion C.E.F. in the First World War and returning officer for Canadian troops in Italy for the federal elections in 1944.

Born in Woodstock, Ontario, he came to B.C. in 1913 and became deputy sergeant-at-arms in 1935.

Five years later he was promoted to sergeant-at-arms, a post which he held until his retirement to Vancouver in 1952.

Funeral services will be held Thursday in Vancouver at T. Edwards Funeral Home followed by interment in the "Returned Soldiers Park," Mountain View Cemetery.

He is survived by the widow Esperance at 408 Dallas Road; two sons, Roy John of Ottawa and Harold Winston with the RCAF at Camp Borden; a daughter, Mrs. Joan Wallace of Whalley, B.C.; a sister, Mrs. J. R. Morrow of Redwood City, California; and ten grandchildren.

Worst Air Crash Blamed on Storm

OTTAWA (CP)—A board of inquiry said Monday severe thunderstorm turbulence was the "most probable immediate cause" of Canada's worst air disaster in which all 79 persons aboard a Maritime Central Airways DC-4 died August 11, 1957, near Quebec City.

A "grave error in judgment" was attributed by the inquiry report, tabled Monday in the Commons, to Capt. Norman Ramsay, 37, of the charter flight inbound from London, for not stopping at Quebec City to refuel.

"Being low on fuel and having no weather reports showing the possibility of cumulonimbus thunderstorms building in the area," said the inquiry report, "the pilot might, in order to save fuel, have elected not to circumnavigate the storm area."

"There is no way of finding out what actually happened aboard the aircraft... and it is not possible, therefore, for the board to say whether the crash of CP-MCF was due to the wrongful act of any person on board the aircraft."

But, said the report by the three men appointed to the public inquiry, "the most probable immediate cause of the accident was severe turbulence encountered while flying in a cumulonimbus cloud, resulting in a chain of events quickly leading up to a complete loss of control and causing the aircraft to dive to the ground in a near vertical nose-down attitude."

The report said that Capt. Ramsay, whose licence was suspended for six months after a 1954 crash with Trans-Canada Air Lines, had less than the minimum gasoline supplies required by regulation to reach Montreal, where he intended to refuel before going to Toronto.

Cabinet Rejects Single Tender On Ferry Run

The only offer in a call for tenders to provide ferry service between Brentwood and Mill Bay was refused Monday by the provincial cabinet.

Coast Ferries Ltd., which now provides the service under subsidy, offered to contract the service if the highways department would pay a $30,000 subsidy annually.

Although the contract will not be entered into, the cabinet approved continuing the present arrangement with the ferry company on a month-to-month basis, at the subsidy rate of $2,500 each month—the same as the bid price.

2 pounds Plate Beef
3 tablespoons shortening
1 1/2 oz. can condensed vegetable soup
1 1/2 cups water
1/2 cup parsley, chopped
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 oz. package noodles, cooked

Cut meat into serving pieces and brown in shortening. Pour off fat and add soup, water, parsley and salt. Cover and simmer two hours or until meat is tender, stirring occasionally. Remove meat. Mix cooked noodles with sauce in skillet. Heap on platter and arrange meat on top. Serves 4-6.

Real Estate Course Proves 'Backbreaker'

By RAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

University students are often depicted as recent male and female high-school graduates sporting bangs, Joe College beanies and bearskin coats and bent on a four-year study of arts, sciences and/or the anatomy of the cute or handsome thing in the next seat.

A group of Victoria real estate sales personnel learned this week of still another undergrad species.

These specimens average 45 years, have educational backgrounds ranging from Grade Five to junior matriculation, rarely sport beanies and seldom participate in such extracurricular activities as the fraternity hop (dance to you squares), pub-crawling or cultivating the coed.

This group constitutes the student body of the first real estate educational course at University of B.C.

Details of the course were outlined to Victoria real estate sales people by the man in charge, Professor Philip White.

He touched all bases from clutching the client to depositing the fat commission in the till. These two functions apparently are the easiest part of the business—the course is the real back-breaker.

Prof. White impressed as a man with a strong back and an equally strong will. Students without these attributes would be better advised to peddle vacuum cleaners or pans. Some have, he said.

SERIOUS CAUSE

"Two or three students took one look at the syllabus, shook their heads, asked for tuition refunds and left."

The professor cited this as an example of the value of the course.

"It eliminates people who are not serious, people who would only clutter up the field and give the industry a bad name."

"On the other hand, it offers a challenge to those who are willing to apply themselves, who have energy and interest."

Before the school opened in November, real estate licensing operated on the loose-leaf system. Anyone with a yen for it worked for a brief period in an agent's office before taking a cursory exam on a few salient points. The theory seemed to be that what a salesman didn't know, he would pick up as he went along. Because barriers to a licence were not as formidable as the Great Wall of China, the industry as Prof. White calls it, attracted certain individuals with larceny in their souls.

WISE CHOICE

To rectify this situation, the Real Estate Board embarked 18 months ago on a search for a man to head a short-term, concentrated course at UBC. From a host of candidates they selected Prof. White, whisked him here from the University of England, and never let him return. First impressions indicate they made a wise choice.

Rolling up his perspiration, Prof. White set up a four-week course of 20 lessons and assignments. He is a great believer in having students cope with simulated problems rather than "yes" or "no" questions.

The assignments aren't easy. They can take two to three hours, after the daily two-hour lecture period, and up to 35 hours for slower pupils.

Students are taught the fundamentals of the mortgage market, appraising, financial statements, books of account, building construction, building practice, land deeds, mortgages, interim agreements and minor legal points.

"We find the hardest part is to get the applicants into study habits again," said Professor White. "After the first 10 days we notice a sharp improvement in their work. Once they realize the job has to be done, their work is excellent."

Assignments are an integral part of the course.

"People learn by doing" is the professor's philosophy. He told of one student who wrote a 16-page assignment, "much longer than I would have received from an average university student."

SMITH WANTS MAYOR FOR PARKING DEBATE

Mayor Percy Scurreh has been challenged by ex-alderman and city MLA J. Donald Smith to debate Victoria's off-street parking plan at a public meeting.

Mr. Smith, who advocates turning over the plan to private development, also urged in a letter to City Hall that the $1,000,000 parking bylaw be sent back to ratepayers for a re-vote.

If 30 per cent of the people approved it, he said he would pay costs of conducting the vote.

New Talks Next Week On Shop Centre Plan

Saanich Council next week will continue negotiations with a Vancouver company for the sale of the Douglas Street municipal yard for development into a $2,000,000 integrated shopping centre.

R. G. Bentall, vice-president of Dominion Construction Co. Ltd., which is promoting the development near the junction of the Douglas St. and the Island Highway, said today he planned to meet council "some time next week."

"Several issues have yet to be ironed-out and an overall plan for the shopping centre approved by both parties," he said.

Since negotiations started, he said, a number of firms have agreed to lease store space on the 13-acre property, but as yet no department store has been signed.

QUICK ACTION

He said once the property was purchased it would not take too long to develop the shopping centre.

"In nine months or so, some of the stores would be open,"

he said. "The construction of a department store would take somewhat longer."

Meanwhile, Saanich has started work on its new McKenzie Avenue municipal yard site in the event that the old yard is sold this spring. The site is being graded, and a fence soon will be erected.

JUNIOR HIGH

Donald A. Smith was appointed principal of the present Esquimalt High School which will be turned into a junior high this fall. Mr. Smith, now vice-principal of Oak Bay Junior High School, assumes his new post Aug. 1.

Greater Victoria School Board announced a shuffle of principals and vice-principals Tuesday night in preparation for an expansion of the school system this year and 1960.

Clive Kelly and Roy Temple, principal and vice-principal of Esquimalt High School, were appointed to similar posts at the new Esquimalt Senior High School now under construction. They will take over when the building is completed this fall.

William R. Hunter, Victoria High School teacher, was appointed vice-principal for Esquimalt Junior High School. J. Henry Downard, principal of Victoria West Elementary School, was appointed principal of the proposed Gordon Head Junior High School. He will take over the new post when the school is opened in the fall of 1960. In the meantime, he will serve as vice-principal of Oak Bay Junior High School for the 1959-1960 term.

J. Robert Mainwaring, principal of Cedar Hill Elementary School, will move to the Shelburne Elementary School when it opens in September. He will serve as principal of both Shelburne and Cedar Hill schools.

'Old Favorites' Take Back Seat In NHL Voting

MONTREAL (CP) — It appears that some new names may be inscribed on a couple of National Hockey League trophies come spring.

The results of the mid-winter voting on four league awards were announced Tuesday and unless there are some definite reversals of form before the end of the season there will be some new stars in the NHL firmament.

In voting for the Hart Trophy—the most valuable player award—Andy Bathgate, 26-year-old New York right winger, piled up a 31-point lead over Gordie Howe, the Detroit Red Wings star who won the trophy the last two years and twice before that. Detroit's Terry Sawchuk, who made the first all-star team's berth as goaltender in the mid-season balloting, was third with 31 points.

In balloting for the Norris Memorial Trophy—awarded to the league's best defenceman—Tom Johnson collected 38 points, four more than Marcel Pronovost of Detroit. Bill Gadsby of New York Rangers was third with 31 points, followed by Montreal's Doug Harvey, winner of the trophy for four consecutive seasons, with 30 points.

HEADS ROOKIES

It will take some doing for anyone to overcome the 50-point lead Montreal centre Ralph Backstrom has amassed in voting for the Calder Trophy, which goes to the top rookie. Charlie Burns of the Wings, who played with the world champion Whitby Dunlops last season, is runner-up to the 21-year-old Backstrom, polling 23 points to the Montreal centre's 73. Norm Johnson, recently picked up by Chicago Black Hawks on waivers from Boston Bruins, follows with 18 points.

Detroit's Alex Delvecchio has a 54-35 margin over New York's Camille Henry in the race for the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy for the player who best combines gentlemanly conduct with a high standard of play. Henry, who won the cup last year, is followed by Rangers' Andy Hebenton, the winner two seasons ago, and Bathgate, who each have 18 points.

Delvecchio has been penalized only four minutes this season, Henry two minutes, Hebenton six and Bathgate 18.

Scoring Leaders Boast Big Edge

Bill Hryciuk, playing coach with Kamloops Chiefs, and Hal Jones of Rossland Warriors are holding clear-cut scoring leads in B.C. senior amateur hockey circles.

Hryciuk has a whopping 14-point edge over teammate Gerry Prince in the Okanagan League point derby, while Jones has a seven-point edge over Nelson's Lee Hyssop in Western International League play.

Avery Has Close Call In Mainland Playoffs

VANCOUVER — Either Frank Avery, a veteran who has been long since established in the curling world, or Fred Britton, a young fellow just starting to bid seriously for recognition, will represent the Lower Mainland area in the provincial Consols finals at Vernon next month.

Britton, who curls out of the Pacific club with Bob Savoyard, Bill Britton, a brother, and Ted Kirk, could have won the zone title Monday night but Avery squeaked through in a tense game despite some fine shotmaking by the Pacific club skip.

Avery's victory forces a sudden-death playoff, which will be held Saturday night at the Capilano Winter Club. Curling with Avery are three brothers—Lynn, Keith and Ray Dagg.

Defending Champs To Visit Vic High

Loni Byng of Vancouver, defending B.C. high school basketball champions, will be at Victoria High School today night to test the strength of Rocky Andrews' resurgent Totems.

The game is expected to give an indication of the potential of the teams in the provincial championship series to be played at the UBC gym this spring.

Who Wants to Take It?

Betting isn't practised habit in Cougars' dressing room, but two newest members of Victoria's Western Hockey League team took time out Tuesday to set up small sweepstake. Forward Stan Baluk, sidelined with ankle injury, holds deposits of Billy For-

Phil Must Have System To Keep Blues Bright

NEW YORK (CP) — Most kids wouldn't agree with him, but New York Ranger coach Phil Watson figures that playing in the National Hockey League can get pretty boring. It usually happens about this time of year, he says, and helps make coaches grey. The boredom means players relax more quickly and teams lose on a good play. Rookies are full of bounce to try to stay with the team.

But, Watson says, at the midway mark it's just monotonous.

"You know how it is," Watson explains. "In almost everything you reach the stage where you say to yourself, 'Well, here we go again—another game.' That's the way it gets."

"All of a sudden you find your daily schedule becoming monotonous. You come into Manhattan, practice and go home. You take the same trains at the same time for games in the same cities. You stay in the same old hotel rooms. You eat the same pregame meals at the same time and at the same places."

"You get pretty tired of it all."

MAKE OTHERS QUIET

"That's why this is the most important time of the year. If you can keep driving, and winning, you may be able to make some other teams practically quit."

"This monotonous period won't last forever. Once you start getting close to the playoffs, you start smelling money. That's incentive enough to keep driving."

A check of the won-lost records for the four-week mid-season period compared with the first four weeks of the NHL season shows that—if Watson is right—Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings have the most virulent cases of mid-season blues.

Detroit has been so bored it dropped to a record of one win, four ties and seven losses from six wins and five losses as the season opened. The Bruins ho-hummed to four wins, two ties and nine losses after posting six wins, three ties and three losses while they were fresh and eager.

LEAFS WAKE UP

Toronto Maple Leafs, perhaps taking advantage of other teams easing up, improved with five wins, four ties and six losses against three wins and seven losses at the start.

Montreal Canadiens, as the NHL aristocracy, naturally didn't let themselves show their boredom. They opened the season with seven wins, two ties and three losses, and had nine wins, four ties and two losses from Dec. 13 to Jan. 11.

Chicago Black Hawks also showed little change—five wins, two ties and five losses at the start and seven wins, three ties and six losses in midseason.

The last-place Green Bay Packers have first choice in the draft, followed in order by Philadelphia Eagles, Chicago Cardinals, Detroit Lions, Washington Redskins, San Francisco 49ers, Pittsburgh Steelers, Chicago Bears, Los Angeles Rams, Cleveland Browns, New York Giants and Baltimore Colts.

Late Tally Slows Climbing Quakers

Prairie Squad Faces Cougars At Arena Tonight

Saskatoon Quakers, seemingly headed for a successful invasion of the Western Hockey League's coastal areas, test Victoria's defences tonight.

Frank Boucher's Quakers, deprived of a second straight victory from Coast Division opposition Tuesday night, face Victoria Cougars on Memorial Arena ice at 8:30.

A disputed last-minute goal by Ron Hutchinson salvaged a 1-1 overtime tie for Vancouver Canucks, Tuesday.

The result left Quakers in third place in the Prairie Division, with a win and a tie in their opening two games of a Coast Division tour. But it jacked Vancouver into second place on the Coast, one point ahead of Spokane Flyers.

Hutchinson's 11th-hour shot came from inside the Saskatoon goal line and went through a maze of players before ending up in the mesh. Goalie Ray Mikulan didn't see it.

PROTEST GOAL

Saskatoon protested the goal to referee Al Paradise on the grounds that the play should have been stopped on an icing-puck call.

A crowd of 2,750 Vancouver fans turned out to watch Saskatoon hold on to a 1-0 lead until the final period.

Jack McLeod, a former Canuck, started the scoring at the four-minute mark of the opening frame. The goal came while Vancouver was short-handed.

Mikulan, making his second appearance with the Quakers since being replaced by Al Rollins with Winnipeg Warriors, was credited with keeping the Canucks off the score sheet as long as he did. All told he stopped 33 shots compared with Bruce Campbell's 18 at the other end.

Royal Goalie On Sidelines Indefinitely

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Goalie Don Campbell of New Westminster Royals will be out of Western Hockey League play indefinitely with an injured hand.

The injury was believed at first to be minor.

The Royals will use 24-year-old Reno Zanier in tonight's game here against Edmonton. Zanier is on a five-game trial from Penticton V's of the senior amateur Okanagan league.

Royals also said that defenceman John Yanchuk, who started the season with New Westminster, has been assigned to play with the Trail Smoke Eaters of the Western International League.

Yanchuk replaces Jack Landon, who has moved to the Spokane Flyers of the WHL.

Record Turnout Set to Trundle

A record number of entries, including teams from Victoria, is expected for the annual Vancouver ten-pin bowling championships February 14-22 at Vancouver.

Secretary Jack Cameron reported Tuesday that more than 80 teams have already entered for the championships.

More than $5,000 in prize money and trophies was won by bowlers in the tourney last year.

B.C. Finalists To Try Again

Victoria and Vancouver's King Edward High School senior soccer teams will try to get together in Vancouver again Saturday to play their postponed sudden-death B.C. championship game.

The game was scheduled to be played before the Christmas break and was twice shelved because of adverse weather conditions.

Vic-High will be going with an unbeaten season in nine games played this year.

BASEBALL BOYS BUSY SIGNING

Furillo, pitcher Bob Gialombardo and first baseman Dan Gentile signed with Los Angeles Dodgers.

First baseman Mickey Vernon, 41, signed with the Cleveland Indians for his 20th season. He hit 293, eight homers and drove in 55 runs last season.

First baseman Frank Torre became the sixth member of the Braves to agree to terms. He alternated with Joe Adcock last season, but is expected to take over the regular job this year.

Pitcher Willard Schmidt, outfielder Bob Thurman and infielder Bobby Henrich signed with Cincinnati Redlegs, and Dick Harris, 25-year-old son of general manager Bucky Harris of the Red Sox, signed with Washington—the club Bucky started with in 1919.

ARMY SCORES UPSET

Navy Personnel, Pride Both Hurt

Navy finally found out what a Commercial Hockey League loser feels like.

It hurts, in more ways than one.

The Sailors lost their first start in 13, and two more players as a result of injuries. Playing without goalie Pat Cain, who was injured in an exhibition at Powell River last Saturday, Navy fell 3-2 to Vics at Memorial Arena Tuesday night.

Biggest loss to the Navy cause was the league's scoring leader, Neil Standley, who suffered a head injury in the third frame. Morris, with a cut forehead, also was sidelined in the third.

Second game of the night's twin bill was also marked by an upset with Army posting their second win of the season by beating Aces 5-4. All of Army's goals came in the final period.

Standley opened scoring but the underdog Vics came through on three third-period goals by Art Green, Wally Harris and Lonnie Restall. Chobater fired Navy's final goal with two seconds remaining.

Army spotted Aces a two-goal edge, then turned on the heat. Three goals by A. D. Ashworth, Bradley and MacNeill moved the service club ahead early in the third before Elliott squared the count at 16:23.

Army went ahead again at 17:14 on Ashworth's second goal. Orv Coulter evened things up again for Aces and Reeder gave Army their win by scoring with just three seconds remaining.

Next league action will be next Tuesday when Army and Vics meet at 7:30 and Navy plays Aces at 9 p.m.

Lions Oppose Games On 'Shopping Night'

VANCOUVER — B.C. Lions and some fans are up in arms about the 1959 Western Interprovincial Football Union schedule, and will protest the scheduling of two Friday night games here.

Lions argue that attendance will drop sharply in those games because stores here are open Friday nights, when many people do their week's shopping.

"We are starting to work right now to get those games moved back to Thursday," president Harry Spring of the Lions reported Tuesday. "We can't let our fans down that way."

Spring, who was present at the Canadian Football League meeting when the schedule was put up for approval, said that the Friday games "slipped right past me."

Only the first two Lion games are set for Friday. The

OUTDOOR REPORT BY Doug Peden

No matter how you stretch the imagination, brant hunting can't be considered a major part of our hunting picture.

There was a time when a fair number of flocks wintered in Vancouver Island waters and gunners had at least a chance of picking up birds during December and January.

Now only scattered bunches of black brant hang around our shores before the northward migration starts in February. This week, for instance, there are a few of the small sea-going geese off Qualicum and Union Bay and undoubtedly some flocks along the west coast, but for sportsmen in this vicinity brant hunting is just next door to a waste of time.

The situation can change in a hurry when the big flocks of migrating brant hit this area, usually about the time the season ends on Feb. 28. Although there are years when the migration is late and brant bags are skimpy, we often have a week or two of good shooting. And for the men who wait for them every year, brant hunting is something special.

Vancouver Island's core of brant-hunting "regulars" probably numbers less than 200, but because they take such a fierce delight in their frigid sport on the wind-swept sandspits, and because the Pacific brant is a highly-vulnerable bird, some of the stories filtering up from Mexico are a little disturbing.

According to the last available count taken by the U.S. Wildlife Service, less than 3 per cent of the brant winter in British Columbia.

About 9 per cent spend their winters in Washington waters and approximately 22 per cent off California. The largest number of the estimated brant population of 145,000 birds—about 95,000—winters off Lower California, in Mexican waters.

Hunting Pressure Growing in Mexico

Until the last few years, hunting pressure was very light in Lower California and the main kill has always been recorded in California waters, where about 16,000 birds are taken annually. Hunters in Washington and Oregon are believed to average about 6,000 brant per season and Canadians account for another 3,000.

Now it appears that fancy shooting resorts are springing up along the Mexican coast, offering plush living accommodations and liberal waterfowl shooting. It has been said that brant below the Mexican border are beginning to take a beating.

Since only a relatively small number of black brant winter in our waters and only a few nest in Canada, perhaps we shouldn't complain too much about shooting in other countries. However, the thought is that if the total kill climbs close to 40,000 birds, the species could be in danger.

The Pacific brant is restricted in its movements and habits. It breeds almost exclusively in Alaska. The main nesting grounds are in delta areas of the Yukon and Kuskokwim Rivers and the low-lying nests are vulnerable to a combination of a strong onshore wind and a high tide. It is always possible that a large part of a normal year's production could be wiped out.

A heavy hunting kill, coupled with a nesting disaster or another mysterious reduction in egg sacs, such as California had several years ago, could slice a dangerous hole in the brant population.

A species that numbers only 145,000 birds and is highly vulnerable on its nesting grounds, susceptible to slaughter by hunters on its northern migration, and dependent on eel grass for its winter food, is worth watching closely.

On the subject of waterfowl, a pamphlet on the waterfowl of British Columbia has now been added to the collection of informative booklets on our wildlife available at the Provincial Museum. Written by Charlie Guiguet and illustrated by Frank Beebe, the pamphlet is a bargain at 25c.

Victorian Captures Ladies' Squash Crown

Victoria's Marjorie Stephenson captured one championship at the recent Pacific Coast Class A Squash Tournament in Seattle.

Skrien Eyes Backfield Job

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dave Skrien, backfield coach at the University of Minnesota, "could be" the next backfield coach of the B.C. Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

That's what Herb Capozzi, Lions' general manager, said on his return here from week-end meetings in Winnipeg with the WIFU and Canadian Football League.

"He's one of several candidates," Capozzi said. "We haven't made a final decision yet."

He said Lions' new head coach, Wayne Robinson, may have decided by the time he returns to Vancouver next weekend.

Reports out of Winnipeg last week said Skrien definitely will be the Lions' new backfield coach this year.

She defeated clubmate Lavina Greenwood 3-2 in the all-Victoria ladies' final at the Washington Athletic Club.

Best Victoria showing in the men's division was turned in by Ed Gudewill in the Twilight Division. He extended Herb Wickstrand of Seattle to five games in the hard-fought final.

Jeremy Breckon reached men's "B" class quarter-finals before losing to San Francisco's J. Frolich, the eventual winner.

Ten members of the Victoria club participated in the tournament.

Gene Hoover of Vancouver won the men's championship by defeating Tom Owens of the host club, 4-15, 15-10, 12-15, 15-13 and 15-12. Another Vancouver player, Sandy Robertson, won the consolation title while remaining crowns were won by Seattle players.

AMATEUR FIGHT CARD

Army Champs Get Main Mitt Spots

Amateur boxing promises to return to the Victoria sports scene with a bang next week.

The two bouts which will headline the city's first fight card in 18 months could both develop into slam-bang affairs.

Presenting its first mitt meet, the new Britannia Boxing Club has scheduled 10 bouts next Wednesday night at the Canadian Legion Hall, Blanshard and Comorant.

Each of the two feature bouts will be contested by a

Konrads Creates Monopoly

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—John Konrads, Australia's amazing 16-year-old swimmer, bettered two listed world records Saturday night and now either holds or has surpassed every recognized freestyle mark at distances greater than 110 yards.

Saturday night he was clocked in two minutes, 22 seconds for 220 yards. That clipped one full second off his listed world mark, set 10 months ago in the same North Sydney pool. It also bettered the listed mark of 2:03 for 200 metres (218 yards, two feet, two inches), held by T. Yamakawa of Japan.

The only two freestyle marks Konrads does not hold belong to his pal and rival, John Devitt, who holds the record for 100 yards and 100 metres.

Konrads is a native of Latvia who moved to Australia with his parents and two sisters eight years ago. One of his sisters, 14-year-old Lisa, dominates the free-style events for women almost as completely as John does the men's field.

Young Rink On Its Way?

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A New Westminster rink skipped by Mrs. Theo Young took a commanding lead Tuesday in the Fraser Valley women's curling playoffs at New Westminster Curling Club. Mrs. Young's rink has chalked up five straight wins. Eventual winner of the tournament will qualify to enter the provincial playdowns in Victoria Feb. 17-19.

Rinks from Chilliwack, New Westminster, Cloverdale, Mission, Bridge River and Haney are competing in the Eaton's playdowns here.

Swede Gets Green Light

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sweden's Ingemar Johansson was given the green light today to "fly to New York and sign" for a world heavyweight title fight with champion Floyd Patterson in June.

That practically wrapped up the million-dollar match.

Edwin Ahlqvist, Johansson's adviser, telephoned the good news from New York to the unbeaten European champion after discussions with promoter Bill Rosenzohn and Cus d'Amato, Patterson's manager.

"We expect Johansson to arrive Thursday night or Friday," said Rosenzohn, who has been trying to close the match since last Sept. 14.

That was the date when handsome Ingemar registered his 21st straight professional victory and 13th knockout by belting out Eddie Machen of Redding, Calif., in the first round, to amaze the boxing world and become top contender.

"All we need now is the formality of Johansson's signature on the contracts," said slender, brown-haired Rosenzohn, who promoted Patterson's last defence against Texan Roy Harris at Los Angeles, Aug. 18.

"I'll stage the fight at Yankee Stadium, the Los Angeles Coliseum, the Arena in Colorado Springs, Colo., or possibly some other city that'll make a big bid."

"I'll draw more than a million dollars at the gate. I'll put it on either theatre-television or home television. It will go on home TV only if it opens the door for me to get one of the weekly TV shows on a yearly contract."

However, d'Amato warned: "There's no fight until Johansson signs—according to the terms he and I agreed upon last November. We removed all obstacles to the fight then. The fact that Ahlqvist came over here Sunday had nothing to do with it. Nothing has been added."

It's believed 26-year-old Ingemar is being guaranteed at least $80,000. Patterson's last challenger, Harris, was guaranteed $100,000.

There'll be a return title bout in the United States if the Swedish slugger upsets Floyd and takes the crown.

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Ann Findlay, aged 12, of Brockville, Ont., for her question:

What Was the Early Horse Like?

There were no horses here when Columbus discovered the New World. The Indians were terrified because they thought that the horse and his Spanish rider were one strange animal. At that time, no one knew that North America was the cradle of the horse family. The noble animal was really coming back home.

There were horses in North America 50 million years ago. But we would hardly recognize them as the ancestors of the modern horse. They were 11 inches high at shoulder level, no bigger than foxes. The little creatures had toes, four on each front foot and three on each hind foot. Small as they were, there was something horsey about them, even then. Perhaps it was the gracefully arched necks and backs, the long flowing tails and manes. Scientists have named the ancestor of our noble horse Eohippus, which means Dawn Horse. He lived in the Eocene.

Age, the dawn age of the mammals. In those far off days, the year-round climate was like a spring morning. There were palm trees in the Dakotas, and ginkgo trees in Washington state. Alligators wallowed in the streams of the northwest.

Fig trees, chestnuts, magnolias, beeches and elms grew way up in Alaska. Giant redwoods grew from Alaska all the way down the western edge of the continent. The Rocky Mountains were not so high as they now are. The Great Lakes were not yet born and the Gulf of Mexico bit into the land as far north as Illinois.

The centre of the continent was gentle park land. There were lakes, forests and grassy glades. And this is where we find Eohippus and his herd. The grass is soft and tender, which is lucky for the little horse. For his teeth are not strong enough to chew tough grasses.

Prey of Meat-Eaters

The little fellow has his enemies that keep him ever alert, always ready to run. He is hunted by the sharp-toothed, meat-hungry ancestor of the foxes. Eohippus and his herd must be ready to stop grazing and scamper away, tails flowing, at a moment's notice.

How did this dainty creature become the splendid horse we know today? The job took time—it took 40 million years. Nature weeded out all the smaller horses. Only the larger, swifter ones survived. To stay alert and run fast, you need to keep on your toes. And so did Eohippus. He learned to stand and run on one toe of each foot. It became a hoof and Nature, who tends to discard what she does not use, let the other toes waste away. The soft teeth of Eohippus became harder and coated with long wearing cement. For the soft grasses gave way to tough prairie grasses as the climate changed.

In America, the horse was ready for man ten million years ago. But he did not

DOES JUPITER HAVE AN EQUATOR?

Every planet that revolves on its axis has an equator. And giant Jupiter revolves on its axis. The axis is an imaginary line through the centre of the planet from pole to pole. Jupiter's equator, like the earth's equator, is exactly half way between these two poles. It is another imaginary line clear around the waist of the planet.

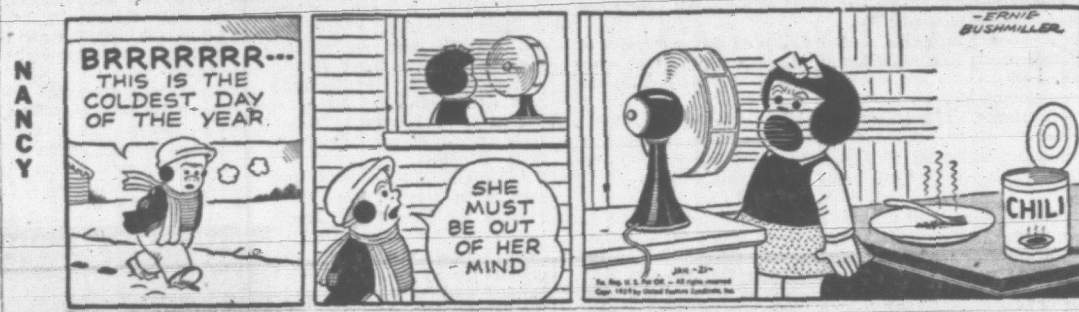

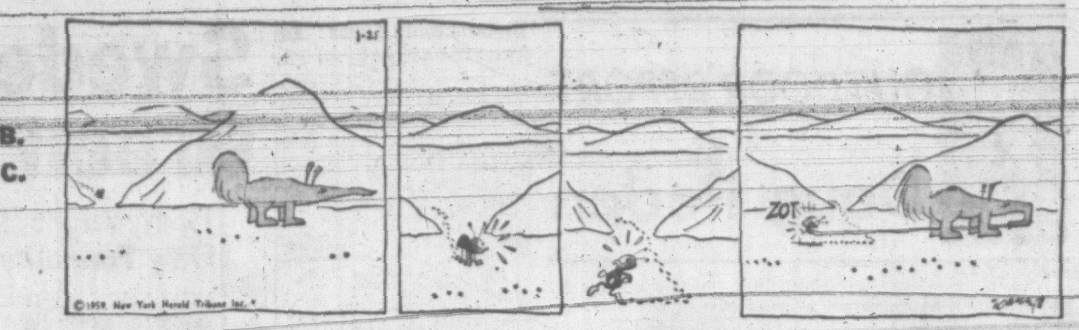

There is a big difference, however, between the earth's equator and Jupiter's equator. Our earth is about 24,000 miles around the waistline. Big fat Jupiter is about 267,000 miles around the middle. In spite of its great size, Jupiter rotates very fast on its axis. Its day and night period is equal to about 10 earth hours. This spinning speed seems to have caused the planet to flatten at the poles and bulge at the waste. For the diameter of Jupiter at the equator is considerably longer than the diameter through the poles.

Andy Griffith, just as he did in "A Face in the Crowd" and in "No Time For Sergeants," proves that he is a capable performer, in certain circumstances and under some conditions one of the most reliable actors about today. What's more, in "Onionhead," he is backed up by some commendable performances by a supporting cast made up of Felicia Farr, Erin O'Brien, Walter Matthau, Joe Mantell and Ray Danton.

The plot, in brief: Griffith, in 1941, is working his way through college but when he has a run-in with girl friend O'Brien he joins the U.S. Coast Guard in a fit of sulks. In boot camp he runs into more trouble and, for his pains, is made a cook although he has never cooked before in his life.

AT SEA aboard the buoy tender Periwinkle he runs afoul of chief cook Matthau who's so disgusted at getting an assistant who can't cook that he imbibes to such a degree that Griffith takes over with the usual hilarious results.

Ashore Griffith finds romance with Miss Farr, a winsome bundle of charm who collects men like some women collect buttons. But she truly yearns for Andy even though she winds up marrying boss cook Matthau. This wavering between first love Miss O'Brien and Miss Farr plus a feud going on aboard the Periwinkle between Griffith and executive officer Danton, who is filling his own pockets through the buying of inferior food, is guaranteed to keep most cinema-goers alert for what is happening next.

The Prince Edward Islands in the Antarctic were annexed to the Union of South Africa in 1947.

ADJUDICATORS NAMED

Syllabus Ready For Music Fest

Syllabus for the Greater Victoria Music Festival is now off the press and available at Western Music, Fort Street, Frank Ward's Music Store, and Hall's Fairfield Music Centre.

Copies of selections for the Speech Arts classes are available at a nominal cost from Western Music.

Deadline for entries is March 2 and all intending participants should make sure their entries are in by that date as it is unlikely that the Festival committee will provide an extension of deadline this year.

All adjudicators on the panel have been here on previous occasions and have proved their worth to competitors at all levels.

Miss Nellie Tholen will again adjudicate piano classes. Miss Tholen is a prominent teacher of piano in Portland, Ore., and in great demand throughout the Pacific Northwest as an adjudicator.

Vocal classes will be judged by Glyndwr Jones of Vancouver, a dynamic voice expert renowned for his incisive yet sympathetic adjudications.

For string classes the festival committee has again obtained the services of Clifford Evans, Victoria Symphony concert master; for instrumental and band, William D. Cole of University of Washington.

Young Dancers Living It Up—And Loving It

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

A ballet company that is young, radiant, bouncing with vitality, brings a subtly different flavor to the performance of its art than one whose members are matured through long years of discipline, hard work and professional experience.

This was a prominent aspect of the display given Tuesday night at the Royal Theatre by the Royal Winnipeg Ballet.

LIVING IT UP

Here were all youthful, exuberant dancers, living it up and loving every minute of it. Short at times in fine points of interpretation and intricate details of technique, to be sure.

But ballet performances have been seen in Victoria that for all their technical perfection had an ennui about them that dulled the polish. Better far the RWB with its moments of imprecision and occasional dancing school atmosphere, than such uninspired correctness.

Not that the Winnipeg dancers lacked discipline. There was much throughout in the classic elegance of Ballet Premier and Sleeping Beauty excerpts for instance—where precision, form and line were under excellent control.

Leading ballerina Marina Katronis particularly, appears to give promise of some distinction. Not only has she considerable style in the classic form, she has a thistle-down quality, an expressive face, an airy, impish charm.

In the amusing, if not particularly original, divertimento lampooning dances and manners of the 1920s, she was irresistible in her ebullience and flair for comedy.

Agile and lithe, with a fine gift for comedy characterization also, were her two partners, Ted Patterson and Michael Hrushowy.

Sonia Tavernier, the company's other premier ballerina is another highly gifted and accomplished young dancer who combines authority with an innate elegance. As an interpretive artist she was at her best in Grasslands, a modern ballet expressing the joys and sorrows of the pioneers of the Great Plains.

Music for the ballet was provided by duo pianists Ruth Watson and Nancy Noonan. They were a more than usually adequate substitute for the missing orchestra.

AVRO TO TEST UNIQUE AIRCRAFT

Real 'Saucer' Over Toronto Scheduled to Fly in Spring

OTTAWA (CP)—Any persons in Toronto or vicinity who think they see a flying saucer in the next few months may well be right.

Informants here said Canada's flying saucer, under development for six years, is scheduled to take to the air for the first time in May or June.

"Flying saucer" is not a misnomer because the Buck-Rogers machine is round, about 18 feet in diameter and carries two or three men.

Avro Aircraft Limited of Malton, near Toronto, the company developing the unique vehicle, is not yet sure it will function.

Principles embodied in the secret project cannot be proven until flight trials are undertaken. If the machine does work, there is a good possibility it will be mass-produced for the United States Army and perhaps for the Canadian army. The U.S. took over financing of the project when Canada withdrew after spending $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 on it.

The flying saucer is designed to take off and land vertically. It would be able to hover like a helicopter or dart off in any direction at subsonic speed.

EVEN FASTER?

Avro wants to find out whether its subsonic version will work before it tries its hands at a supersonic model.

Sir Roy Dobson, chairman of A. V. Roe Limited, said in London last month that his company has under development in Canada an "aerocar" or flying jeep. This was the first reference to the project since 1955 when former Liberal defence production minister C. D. Howe referred to the amount of money Canada had put into it.

He said at that time the project, if carried through, would cost in the neighborhood of $100,000,000.

Italian Socialists Break With Reds

NAPLES (AP) — Pietro Nenni emerged in solid control of Italy's left-wing socialists Sunday night as the party formally severed its ties with the Communists. The Stalin Peace Prize winner, who has been pressing his party to break with the Reds since 1956 Hungarian revolt, rammed his motion through the national Socialist Congress with 273,271 votes, or 58.30 per cent, behind it.

Inco Metals at work in Canada

Inco Copper helps you enjoy modern electrical living

...but three Canadian homes out of five need up-to-date wiring

SUPPOSE the house you're living in is ten years old or more. The original wiring system did its job well in those days. But can this same wiring system handle the many new appliances you have in 1958? Or in five or ten years from now?

Probably not. Even some new houses are not properly wired to carry the electrical load you need in your home. In fact, more than 3 out of every 5 Canadian homes have inadequate or out-of-date wiring.

If your home is one of these, it means that you're not getting good service from your appliances. They're operating too slowly... using more electricity than they should... and costing you more money. Lights are not as bright as they ought to be. Electric motors operate slowly. Fuses may be blowing. These are sure signs of inadequate wiring. And it could mean that you're playing with fire... because overloaded wiring can help create a fire hazard.

Make sure your home has a safe and up-to-date wiring system. If you spot any of the tell-tale signs, call in an electrical contractor and have him inspect the wiring. He can show you how to enjoy the safety and convenience of modern electrical living.

Inco supplies copper to Canadian companies for the manufacture of heavy duty power cable and the wiring that goes into your home. And you use many other products made from Inco ORC® Brand Copper every day. For more than half of all the copper produced by Inco is used right here in Canada. Another example of the way Inco metals serve the Canadian industries that serve you.

'Labor May Get Drastic'

VANCOUVER (CP) — A statement in the House of Commons Tuesday by Labor Minister Michael Starr that no consideration is being given to emergency action on the Canadian unemployment problem, drew quick comment from Lloyd Whalen, president of the Vancouver Labor Council.

"If the government has no emergency plan to deal with unemployment," Mr. Whalen said, "the labor movement may have to do something drastic, such as sending mass delegations to Ottawa."

He said the unemployment situation here was getting worse daily, and a "do-nothing attitude by the government is a complete betrayal of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's election promises."

Sound travels through water a mile per second, compared with five seconds in air.

MENTAL TEST ORDERED FOR KIDNAP SUSPECT

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Jean Lavarone was sent to a hospital for mental tests Tuesday in the Jan. 2 kidnapping of a new-born Brooklyn baby, Lisa Rose Chionchio.

If found insane, she could be put away until cured. If sane, she faces kidnap charges that carry a maximum penalty of 20 years to life.

"Mrs. Lavarone still believes the child belongs to her," her lawyer, Joseph Fontana, told reporters.

PM's Trip Cost $50,000

TORONTO (CP) — The Star says in an Ottawa story it has learned Prime Minister Diefenbaker's seven-week world trip last fall cost upwards of $50,000.

It says most of the cost was for operation of the four-engine C-5 which carried the prime minister's party of 14 plus 14 RCAF crew members on the 30,000-mile tour.

The story adds that Elmer Diefenbaker, the prime minister's brother, two newspaper men and a photographer paid their own way although it was understood the prime minister had provided his brother with $1,600 to cover the cost.

Crisis Nearing in Professor Shortage

Within "two or three years" there will be a "crisis" in the shortage of professors for universities across Canada, Dr. Claude T. Bissell, president of the University of Toronto, said here Tuesday.

"Graduate schools are not turning them out" in sufficient numbers, said the 42-year-old university chief, winding up a cross-Canada speaking tour to alumni associations.

The drawback, he said, is "the obvious tendency for good students to go into areas of more immediate return . . . meaning better paying jobs with the same qualifications."

Professors, he said, were "never satisfied" with pay rates but today they compared favorably with those of junior executives in large corporations.

LOTS OF ENGINEERS

In an interview, the college president said: "The earlier 'hue and cry' for more engineers was not well-founded. Throughout the University of Toronto—show a "passion" for education. They showed a tendency for the humanities and social sciences, perhaps because of "trials of the spirit" undergone in their homelands.

... "age of conservatism"

"CONSERVATISM"

Students today are in the "age of conservatism"; not radicals as they were in the late '20's and during the '30's, said Dr. Bissell.

This, he explained, is because they are not "hardened" by the exigencies of those periods.

There has been a student shift to the basic sciences—physics, chemistry and mathematics—since the Second World War, and yet at the same time there has been no lessening of interest in the humanities.

Individual and corporation grants to universities are the insurance against "paternalism" which could result if seats of learning functioned solely under monies granted by government.

"This means a degree of independence . . . a safeguard."

Labor was "sympathetic" to university education, and might even consider grants; but there is a "certain tension" between the two which he termed "unnecessary."

"Labor believes in education more than many other organizations."

Secondary school education is "not tough enough" for the average university entrant, he said.

Granting of degrees without high school graduation was "worth speculation" in some branches of the humanities.

But if this was an over-all policy, "chaos" would result as universities, by their very existence, must follow ascertained practices.

Some of the best educated persons are not exposed to university education, "but these are rare, and have a touch of genius."

Students today, said the head of the 13,000-student university—largest in the Commonwealth—are better informed than in years past, but have not the "basic disciplines" of their predecessors.

'TIME IS RIPE FOR DEBATE ON LIBERTIES'

OTTAWA (CP)—Professor Arthur Lower of Queen's University Tuesday urged Parliament to support the government's proposed bill of rights.

Speaking during a panel discussion at the University of Ottawa, he said the time is ripe for a national debate on liberties.

He added that Canadians "probably wish guarantees against the ever-increasing state, the Leviathan that pushes every day farther and farther in our lives, even to taking our children from us, as for example British Columbia has done with the Doukhobors and Ontario with Jehovah's Witnesses."

who plan to lobby members of the B.C. legislature at the Empress Hotel Feb. 2.

High on the list of topics to be discussed is unemployment, use of the Civil Defence Act in a labor dispute, and the MLAs' attitude toward demands by business groups for restrictive labor laws.

But the trek, organized by the B.C. Federation of Labor, was arranged primarily to seek an answer to unemployment. It follows disclosure last week that 33,000 persons were looking for work in Vancouver.

The lobby also will press for the release by the government of $5,000,000 for special unemployment relief.

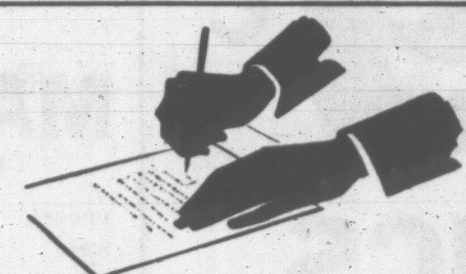

Expected to attend the meeting are labor representatives from Nanaimo, Kamloops and other B.C. areas, as well as a large contingent from the mainland.

MONTE ROBERTS

So you want to know why I am limping, so I'll tell you, and you'll laugh.
I know you will, because everyone else laughs. You see, the reason I am on the limp is, I stubbed my toe.
And it appears that a stubbed toe is the funniest thing in the world.
People do not laugh at you if you have a fractured wrist or a broken shoulder or a clobbered clavicle. People are sympathetic if you get measles or whooping cough or scarlet fever or beriberi or even the common cold.
But people have no sympathy for you if you stub your toe.
Yesterday I took my stubbed toe down to the emergency ward at the hospital, to find out if it was broken, fractured, dislocated, bent or merely bruised.
So the head nurse in emergency took down my name and number and asked me the nature of my trouble.
"Stubbed my toe," I told her, and the head nurse laughed merrily.
So I went and sat in the waiting room, waiting for the doctor, and a man with his arm in a sling asked me what was the matter.
"Stubbed my toe," I told him, and the man with his arm in a sling laughed merrily.
So the doctor came and the doctor asked me what was the matter.
"Stubbed my toe," I said, and the doctor laughed merrily.
Not to make too protracted a narrative of the matter, among those also laughing merrily were: the nurse who tried to put me in a wheelchair to take me to the X-Ray waiting room; the X-Ray nurse who tried to put me in a wheelchair to take me to the X-Ray machine; the nurse who tried to put me in a wheelchair to escort me out of the building; all members of the staff of this newspaper; my favorite wife and all her friends; and even my five-month-old granddaughter, but you can't really count her as she laughs merrily at all times.
So you want to know why I am limping?
"Stubbed my toe."
Go ahead, laugh.

'Many Errors' By Judge Says Appeal

AT PRESENT STAFF OFFICER, COMMUNICATIONS, on the staff of the flag officer, Pacific Coast, Lt.-Cmdr. John Carling has been appointed commanding officer of the frigate Ste. Therese which will be re-commissioned Saturday after an extensive refit at Yarrow's Ltd. Ste. Therese will join the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron based at Esquimalt.

The argument that the judge in the Mantha murder case "corrected so many errors in his charge to the jury that the jury could not be expected to have clearly understood the law," is one of eight grounds of appeal filed on Mantha's behalf today.
The defence also is appealing on the ground that "the judge erred in imposing the death sentence twice."
Leo Anthony Mantha, 31-year-old tugboatman, was sentenced Dec. 17 to hang March 17 for the stabbing murder Sept. 6 of Naden sailor Able Seaman Aaron "Bud" Hetherington Jenkins, 23.
In Assize Court Mr. Justice J. G. Rutan first sentenced Mantha to hang March 19 then, after the prisoner had been taken from the court room, realized he had erred in the date, and recalled him.
The judge then sentenced Mantha a second time, this time to hang March 17.
The notice of appeal lists six other grounds for appealing the murder conviction.
Included are the arguments that the judge erred in admitting evidence of inculpatory (self-blaming) statements, in failing to outline Mantha's chief defence, in his definition of reasonable doubt during his charge to the jury and, in the trial within a trial, in permitting crown counsel to cross-examine Mantha concerning the truth of certain statements.
The appeal also lists as grounds the premise that the jury failed to give Mantha the benefit of doubt.

DRIVER BREAKS DOWN AT TRAFFIC INQUEST

'I Screeched and Grabbed the Baby'

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
A motorist broke down and wept at a coroner's inquest today as he described the two-car collision which resulted in Victoria's first traffic fatality of 1959.

A six-man jury returned a verdict of accidental death on Edward D. Miles, 36, of 3366 Wordsworth, who died in Royal Jubilee Hospital Sunday from injuries sustained in the crash at Scott and Ryan Streets Jan. 13, five days earlier.

The jury attached no blame to anyone involved in the accident. But Clare L. Brown of 2664 Scott, the driver of the second car, was so deeply distressed he had difficulty giving his evidence at the inquest at Sands Mortuary.

Mr. Brown was driving north on Scott Street with his wife and his 18-month-old child.

FAIRLY GOOD VIEW

"We were going towards the intersection of Ryan Street," he said brokenly, "and there was a fairly good view to the left and right."

"I started to go into the intersection as there appeared to be no car coming... I was still looking to the right. I could see this other car on my right but it seemed to be a good distance away... Then I realized he was going too fast to get across. I put on my brakes and tried to turn off to the left... At this point Mr. Brown broke down and wept for several minutes and the court waited in silence until he was able to continue."

Deputy Coroner Dr. J. H. Moore then asked him if he remembered the impact, and he said:
"His car struck the side of mine... Mrs. Shirley Brown estimated her husband was driving at about 20 miles an hour when they approached the Ryan Street intersection."

SAW IT COMING
"Just as we were going through the intersection, I saw the other car coming. It was coming so fast that I screeched and grabbed the baby... "What did your husband do?" asked Lloyd McKenzie, appearing for Mr. Brown. Mrs. Brown: "As soon as I screeched, he put on the brakes right away." Police witnesses said it appeared from the skid marks that both motorists slammed on their brakes about the same time. The crash caused the door on the driver's side of Mr. Miles' car to fly open and he was thrown to the pavement between the two cars. Dr. John Harvey, who attended Mr. Miles in hospital after the accident, said he suffered a fractured skull, and injuries to the brain, and other injuries.

His son, Terry, 7, a passenger in the car, was treated in hospital for bruises but was released the same day.

'We Can Make It Pay'—PWA

Private Line Bids For TCA 'Triangle'

By HAL MALONE, Times Business Editor

Fast-growing Pacific Western Airlines announced overnight it has applied to the Air Transport Board to take over the allegedly non-profitable Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle air service from Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Community leaders, at first disposed to call for a public inquiry into the future of Victoria-mainland service, later indicated they would not oppose the application if PWA shows it will maintain the same service provided by TCA.

If its application is successful, PWA said it plans:

1. To introduce C46 aircraft, capable of carrying 58 passengers and two tons of freight as opposed to TCA's DC3 aircraft which can handle 28 passengers and a few hundred pounds of freight;

2. To operate 10 flights daily between Vancouver and Victoria (TCA operates 12 daily flights);

3. To charge the same fare—$5 each way—between Victoria and the mainland.

Under the terms of application, TCA will retain the right to begin or terminate transcontinental flights from Patricia Bay airport.

QUICK REACTION

The PWA announcement brought an immediate reaction from Conway Parrott, president, Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and Mayor Percy Scourrah.

Mr. Parrott said the application should be the subject of a full public inquiry at which all interested parties could present their views and satisfy themselves that the requirements could be met.

Mayor Scourrah said that if another airline takes over the run "I think it only fair to ask that company to show its ability to give at least as frequent a service as we have received from TCA" at the existing fare level and with no deterioration in service.

Later, John Coppinger, managing secretary of the Chamber, said that questions of maintaining the service and fare structure might easily be settled with PWA without the need for a public inquiry.

PWA's move was seen as acceptance of a challenge thrown out by TCA at the Air Transport Board hearings into Canadian Pacific Airlines' bid for a transcontinental franchise.

BIG LOSS

TCA's counsel John Edison told the ATB that certain TCA lines cost the company money. He cited the Victoria-Vancouver-Seattle run as an example and fixed the annual operating loss at $1.3 millions.

PWA told the Air Transport Board that if Mr. Edison's remarks were intended as a challenge, PWA would accept. F. A. Welbourn, PWA's press relations and advertising manager, said in a statement that the company expects to make a "fair and reasonable" profit if the ATB approves its application. He said a fair profit estimate had been submitted to the ATB but declined to disclose it until the application has been acted upon.

NOT 'TRUE FIGURE'

TCA's alleged loss of $1.3 millions is a "paper figure" and not necessarily a "true figure," Mr. Welbourn said. Since TCA charges a common fare between Winnipeg and Victoria, it suffers no fare loss if a Winnipeg traveller deplores in Vancouver and the seat he would have occupied on the flight to Victoria is unfilled. Yet TCA could, for purposes of calculating the revenue or loss of the island-mainland service, regard the unfilled but paid for seat as empty in arriving at its estimated loss of $1.3 millions.

Another factor not applicable to PWA said Mr. Welbourn is that TCA operates DC3 aircraft on the triangle run alone. Because of this it has been forced to set up special crews, maintenance and parts depots to handle this "isolated" arm of its operations.

TCA's willingness to shed the triangle run was apparent in a recent statement by company president Gordon R. McGregor.

He said no air transport could make money on a haul of that distance (39 air miles) "at the prevailing fare level."

Mr. Welbourn said PWA's safety record is "second to none" in Canada. The company has one of the lowest insurance rates in the world, he added.

FEAR EXTRA COST

Prior to the announcement, Vancouver Island-bulk growers had expressed concern over a change in service. They indicated they were fearful extra costs would be imposed by having to transfer their shipments at Vancouver for delivery to eastern points.

PWA officials said no transfer costs would be included on either passenger fares or freight charges between Victoria, Vancouver and eastern centres.

They pointed out that PWA can supply tickets to any point in the world by arrangements with the International Air Transport Association. It acts as a clearing house for all air lines selling competitors' tickets.

50 PILOTS

PWA officials said the company has 50 senior pilots to handle the Victoria-Vancouver-Seattle service. DC3 aircraft would be used to supplement C46's in peak travel periods.

The company said it would have to add ground crew and stewardesses for the triangle run. No extra aircraft would be needed but some C46's plying the relatively non-profitable Vancouver-Port Hardy service would be pressed into service.

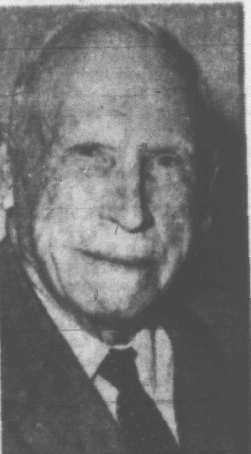

TCA and PWA have both had their share of grief flying B.C.'s rugged interior and coastal routes.

Sixty-two persons died when a TCA North Star crashed into Mount Slesse near Chilliwack on Dec. 9, 1956. Among the fatalities were five members of the West All-Star football team returning to their prairie homes after the Shrine contest in Vancouver.

A total of 19 persons perished in two separate PWA accidents between August, 1955 and June, 1957.

Five persons met their death when a PWA Mallard crashed in the Kildala Pass between Kitimat and Kemano on Aug. 4, 1955. Killed were Col. Macgregor Macintosh of Victoria, D. Milton Owen, prominent Vancouver lawyer and school trustee, Albert Gorman, assistant manager for Saguenay-Kitimat Construction Co., pilot Ed Bell and co-pilot Kendall King.

Fourteen persons met almost instant death when a PWA DC3 crashed shortly after take-off from Port Hardy airport on June 21, 1957. The crash was attributed to the failure of a ground crewman to remove control blocks from the tail assembly of the ill-fated aircraft.

WILLIAM ROWLES... it worked for him

95-YEAR-OLD:

It's Healthier To Nudge That Grudge

One way of achieving longevity is never to hold a grudge against anyone, according to William Rowles, 95, who is celebrating his 95th birthday today with members of his family.

The six-foot tall Canadian farmer, still in good health, said hate, the lack of tolerance and understanding for others are main factors contributing toward illness.

The prescription for longevity seems to have worked for Mr. Rowles. He took up five-pin bowling a year ago, walks and travels extensively around the city, and takes an active interest in world affairs.

Born in Castletown, Wiltshire, England, he came to Canada with his wife in 1888. That was only three years after the Louis Riel rebellion was crushed by the Canadian government.

HERE 10 YEARS

He first farmed in Manitoba and later moved to Saskatchewan in 1912 where he remained until 1948. He has been in Victoria 10 years.

A few years ago, the Saskatchewan Government was so impressed by his farming record, it named a lake after him.

"I came to Canada because my wife was ill and was not expected to live," he said. "She picked up as soon as we settled on the prairies and died only four years ago at the age of 91."

Mr. Rowles had five children, one died in his early twenties. He has now 12 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

ONE OF THE TOP AWARDS made to students in the engineering field, an Athlone fellowship, has been won by Stanley Ross Clark, 214 Bruce St. Nanaimo, a graduate of Nanaimo High School now attending University of British Columbia. The fellowships provide for two years of advanced practical work or research in the United Kingdom. Mr. Clark will leave for England during the summer, where he will do advanced work in electrical engineering.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Rubber cheque "season" in Victoria has left two city businessmen short $244.30 by accepting worthless cheques since Jan. 10.

Police seek a man who wrote two cheques on a Vancouver bank, both of which were returned marked "no funds."

Second-hand store operator, Arthur Loof, 1314 Government, told police Monday he accepted a cheque for $214.30 for some tools and Sims Auto Supply, 851 Yates, said a cheque for $36 was cashed.

Prof. R. J. Bishop, professor of English at Victoria College, will propose the toast of The Immortal Memory at the annual dinner of the Dickens Fellowship Victoria branch at the Y.W.C.A. on Saturday, Feb. 7. This marks the 147th anniversary of Charles Dickens' birth.

Miss Pamela Paver will be the soloist and E. F. Wetherston, branch president, will be in the chair.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Has unemployment insurance money been put in a separate fund and earmarked for unemployment insurance purposes, or has it been put into the general fund?—T.W.

A.—It's in a trust fund, and can't be used for any other purpose under existing legislation.

Q.—What is the population of North America, Central America and South America?—M.S.

A.—These are approximate figures: North America, 207,000,000; Central America, 7,000,000; and South America, 101,000,000.

Answering a question answered in the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to answer questions of legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or collectors. These should be submitted to dealers.

The maritime museum on Esquimalt Road, operated by the RCN, has been closed for renovations and rearrangement of the exhibits.

Both buildings will be closed for about one month.

PO James E. Crawford of the RCN's Squadron VU33 stationed at Patricia Bay Airport has won a cash award for inventing a tool to service blast tubes in naval aircraft.

The award, amount of which was not disclosed, comes from the suggestion award board of the public service of Canada.

Crawford's invention is said to cut maintenance and speed servicing.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall is resting at home following 10 days in hospital for an illness suffered before city court sitting Jan. 8.

There is no indication he will make an early return to his duties as police magistrate for Greater Victoria municipalities.

Three B.C. department of agriculture officials will address a meeting of the Victoria and Islands Branch of the Agricultural Institute of Canada to be held in the office of Scott & Peden, 506 Cormorant, at 8 p.m., Thursday. A. E. Raymond, W. Pendray and George Patchett will speak on various phases of their work.

The brassy thief who burgled Smith Cedar Products Ltd., 651 Harbor, took away a quantity of brass scraps, heating nozzles and 24 sprinkler tips, city police were told Tuesday.

A meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held tonight at 6:30 at the War Amputees Hall.

The number of licensed vehicles in British Columbia increased by 23,102 during 1958, it was announced today. There are now 500,748 commercial and passenger vehicles. Officials of the Motor Vehicle Branch estimate there are 650,000 licensed drivers.

Work on the new $3,000,000 provincial government ferry to be built at Victoria Machinery Depot will start Feb. 15, yard general manager said today.

"We are just waiting for the steel," he said, "and this is expected to be here Feb. 10."

The work will provide jobs for an estimated 150 men for several months.

Second government ferry will be built by Burrard Dry Dock in Vancouver.

Theft of $116 in coin and $295 in cigarettes from Dean Heights Food Market, Foul Bay and Neil, was reported to Oak Bay police Tuesday.

The break-in, by way of a side window, took place sometime at the weekend.

Money was contained in a fishing tackle box, which was stolen with the cash.

First meeting of the new year for members of Victoria Jazz Society will be at 8:30 tonight, 1306 Wharf, when details of the club's 1959 inaugural concert Jan. 30 will be discussed.

A civic survey of private business firms in Victoria last year revealed that City Hall "inside staff" pay scales are 14.41 per cent lower for comparable work when compared with a similar survey carried out in 1952. The City Hall Employees' Association, in a separate survey, reported today that the disparity is 15.78 per cent. The survey results will be presented to city council during wage negotiations this year.

MRS. NINA CLARKE

New Goodwill Appointments As Firm's Payroll Expands

Mrs. Nina Clarke is now in charge of the production department of Goodwill Enterprises, with Mrs. Carol Gibbs, a graduate nurse, in charge of sales.

In a report issued today by the board of directors, growth during the first year of operation was outlined, with the number of handicapped persons employed increasing to 40 by the end of 1958.

"This success was largely due to the continued generosity of the residents of Greater Victoria," the report states.

All of those employed by Goodwill Enterprises are victims of muscular dystrophy, poliomyelitis, speech and hearing impediment, or various degrees of emotional and nervous disorders.

An anniversary tea will be held Feb. 7 at the War Amputees' Hall. The tea is being arranged by the Ladies' Auxiliary to Goodwill Enterprises, assisted by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Victoria Rotary Club.

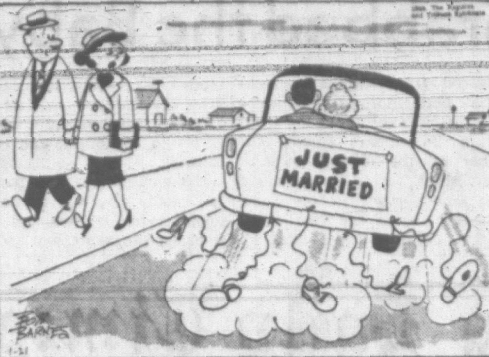

The Ladies' Auxiliary, the Queta Nichol Service League, was organized recently through the efforts of Mrs. E. Lamont. The board of directors paid tribute to the "very valuable service" rendered by Mrs. Lamont, who until recently was in direct charge of the active management.

New Idea in Egg Beaters At City Hardware Store!

By PENNY SAVER

I always find something new and interesting in hardware stores! In fact, such shops can hold my attention for hours on end, especially when they're stocked with items such as this automatic, triple-action, egg and cream beater.

It's a single, long-handled gadget with rotating wire beaters on one end. It's very new and priced at 59 cents!

Bang, bang... that's the indelicate sound of an exasperated person trying to spoon jam on to his plate!

But stop! No more will this be a problem if you have a spoon with a dropped sprout on one side. Sticky jams, syrups and mayonnaise fall from the spoon easily! It selling for 79 cents.

Hygienic pastry and sandwich server scissors are certainly a boon to the busy hostess. Serving little tidbits to guests is a tricky business, but with these scissors, the problem is solved, for the low price of 79 cents.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I want to give a little help to those women who have joined my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon.

Some of you now have finished, or almost finished, the first two weeks of this program. A few of you may not have yet received your Marathon booklet. We have gotten such a terrifically heavy mail that even with an extra secretarial staff working overtime, those of you who did not write in immediately may have had a little wait.

One day a week for the next six weeks I will try to reinforce your determination and will bring you additional information and help. Today I want to impress upon you anew the fact that there is no value in adopting an improvement or slimming routine unless you are going to be faithful in adhering to it.

If you just cut down a little on your daily calorie intake or count calories for two days and then backslide for two or three—if you do your exercises for one day or massage your scalp one night and then procrastinate for a while, you cannot expect results. You will experience the penalties of a self-improvement program without any of its benefits. It seems useless to muddle along like this.

If you are not the strong-willed type who can sit at the table and watch the rest of your family slobber butter on hot biscuits, or if it hurts to inhale the aroma of exotic sauces of gravy, perhaps you need a crutch.

For instance, maybe it would be wiser and easier if you eat alone and stay away from the dinner table at night. You will miss the companionship of your family at this time but it won't be for long! Or, if you insist on sitting with them, eat your evening meal before hand so that you will not be so hungry when you observe them stacking the calories in.

If you did not join Marathon and would like to do so, send 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon Booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

On Etiquette

BLANKET THANK YOU IS LAZY:

My son was recently married to a girl in another province. One of the wedding gifts was sent jointly by several of our relatives, with their names on the enclosure card. A very nice thank you note was written, addressed to one of the names. No doubt the bride assumed that the note would be passed around to the others, but these relatives are saying that each should have received a note. Should I write my new daughter-in-law and ask her to write separate notes?

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS:

It would have been a little nicer had the bride written a brief thank you note to each person. Since the relatives have stated their objections, I would tactfully ask your daughter-in-law if she would mind writing to the others. Since she is now a member of the family, you could even tell her that it would relieve an awkward family situation. You might also enclose the names and addresses for her convenience.

DEAR ABBY...

Dreams Can Be Significant

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and have a steady boyfriend. My best girlfriend also has a steady boyfriend and her boyfriend and my boyfriend are best friends. Naturally we always double date. My problem is I go to bed thinking about my boyfriend but I always end up dreaming about her boyfriend. My own boyfriend and my girlfriend are never in my dreams. I can't understand it, Abby, because I really love my boyfriend and think of my girlfriend's boyfriend only as a good friend. Do you think my dreams mean anything and what should I do about it?

DREAMER: DEAR DREAMER: Consistently you love your own boyfriend, but I'm a Freud unconsciously you wish your girlfriend's boyfriend were your own boyfriend. Don't make any lifetime decisions about one fellow while you are dreaming about another.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem concerning my little seven-year-old daughter. She goes to Sunday school and is learning the Ten Commandments. I have to tell her the meaning of each commandment. The one I am stumped on is "Thou shalt not commit adultery." How can a man tell his seven-year-old daughter what "adultery" is?

A FATHER: DEAR FATHER: Simply say "to commit adultery means to break marriage vows."

DEAR ABBY: I am employed as a waitress in a first class hotel dining room. One elderly couple dine here regularly, always at the same table. They are rich people but they order one order and split it between them. He orders coffee and gives her the second cup. They run me ragged saying the cream is sour, the butter is rancid, the chops are cold and I am asked to pick the seeds out of the blackberry pie. They never leave a tip but at Christmas they give me a handkerchief. I like my job here and the manager says these people like me and won't let anybody else wait on them. What should I do?

BURNED UP WAITRESS: DEAR BURNED: These people are obviously very conservative, but anyone who waits on the public sees this type every day. Find your sense of humor, and enjoy the hankie to laugh in—not to cry in.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend and she calls herself a WIDOW. She WAS a widow ten years ago, but she got married again and that marriage didn't last very long so she got a divorce. Shouldn't she be calling herself a "DIVORCEE?" COURIOUS: DEAR COURIOUS: Technically, she is a "divorcee" but if it makes her feel better to call herself "Queen of the May," it is her own affair.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SANDY": Nice girls do NOT accept intimate wearing apparel from gentlemen. (And don't make the mistake of trying it on for "sighs.")

Five Women In Limelight On Thursday

By ELIZABETH FORBES

There will be many feminine guests at opening of the Legislature on Thursday afternoon. Their high fashion ensembles and the gay colors in their spring hats will attract much attention.

Five of their number, however, will hold interest, not only because of their presence in the gathering but because of the positions they so ably hold in different phases of public life.

Mrs. Frank Mackenzie Ross, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, will be seated at the left of the Speaker's dais. With her will be her two sisters, Mrs. Charles Mulch and Mrs. M. J. Gillespie, both of Vancouver. In the party will be Miss Ruth MacLean and Lt. Cmdr. J. H. Wade, aide-de-camp.

Wife of the Premier of British Columbia, Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, will also be seated in a prominent position on the left of the Speaker's chair.

Mrs. Bennett will have her daughter, Mrs. G. H. Tozer and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. R. Bennett, both of Kelowna, seated with her.

At the right of the Speaker's chair will be Mrs. Buda Brown, Social Credit member of the Legislature for Vancouver Point Grey. Fair-haired and blue-eyed, Mrs. Brown is interested in parks, prison reform and other social services and her voice will be heard in many debates in the coming session.

The only other woman in the Legislature, Mrs. Lois Haggen, CCF member for Grand Forks.

Funds Assist Missionaries

A sum of $3,000 has been received by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocesan Board, Anglican Church of Canada for the united thankoffering fund used to assist with maintenance of missionaries in the field and those in training.

This was announced by Mrs. A. F. C. Watts at meeting of the board in St. John's Anglican Church.

Mrs. B. P. Harding presided and Mrs. E. Mellor welcomed members and guests.

Dorcas secretary Mrs. E. Jarvis, reported that packing of flannellette sheets, baby clothes, diapers, baby vests and sweaters for children would start this week for shipments in early May.

Mrs. Harrison, girl's auxiliary secretary, announced that a new branch of the GA had been formed at Campbell River and that a Langford group would unite shortly under leadership of Mrs. G. A. Laird.

Miss Dorothy Stark, secretary, Canadian National Institute of the Blind, spoke to the meeting on her work with the organization. She told of those who volunteered to assist with reading, writing letters, taking the blind for drives and joining in the social life.

Canon G. Biddle, assisted by Canon T. W. Scott, Canon E. Gollmer and Canon C. W. Downer conducted devotions.

Mrs. A. W. R. Ashley and Mrs. Angus Cameron, wives of clergy who have recently come to the city, were welcomed.

MRS. BUDA BROWN

Greenwood, sits with opposition members. She was elected to office after her husband retired as representative of the same constituency because of ill health.

She, too, is interested in all phases of social work and will make her views known on the floor of the House.

Her Worship Mayor Wood of New Westminster will be centre of many eyes when she enters the Legislative Chamber.

Elizabeth Wood, Beth to her friends and Mrs. Jack Wood at home, was elected mayor of the Royal City last December, the first feminine mayor in the 100 years of the city's civic life.

Mayor Wood is attractive, soft spoken, and likes smart clothes.

She held her first meeting in New Westminster's city hall recently and it went off smoothly.

"Maybe I should have been nervous, but I wasn't," she told reporters after it was over. "I've learned to take things as they come, concentrate on the matter at hand to the exclusion of all else."

Up-Island Wedding Trip For Mr. and Mrs. T. Krupa

Following their recent wedding in Centennial United Church, and a reception in Hampton Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Krupa spent their honeymoon Up-Island.

The bride is the former Yvonne Stark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Thomas, of 3283 Seaton Road. Groom is the son of Mrs. A. K. Krupa, Edmonton.

Rev. D. B. Carr heard the marriage vows. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

A sleeveless cocktail-length pink brocade gown, cut on sheath lines, with a rounded neckline, was worn by the bride. Her off-face cloche hat, in matching tone, had a tiny veil. She carried pink roses and gardenias.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Georgina Gold, and bridesmaid, Miss Margaret Thyme, chose gowns of pink and blue, respectively, with matching hats.

Vincent Powell, the best

Sewing Machines—Lake Hill Women's Institute had as guest speaker at their meeting, J. Bemister, manager of a local sewing machine company to speak on machines. Mrs. I. Rollin assisted the speaker by giving a demonstration of various attachments. The two were introduced by Mrs. H. Sharples.

IN STEP WITH STYLE

Jet Age Fashion Show High in Sky

Times fashion editor Nona Damaske has been in eastern United States for the spring and autumn showings of the Couture Group of the New York Dress Institute. She is writing of her experience in this column.

Pilot to co-pilot... "Altitude 25,000 feet... speed, 600 miles an hour... fashion, pure wool!"

As we were jet propelled high above New York City in Pan American's new 707 jet, the lights below twinkled and sparkled just as does the new multi-colored crystal jewelry we have been seeing this past week. The beautiful interior decor of this luxury craft was a true delight to women of the fashion world who are always interested in color coordination.

We flew to Baltimore, Maryland, accompanied by six lovely models and a collection of weightless wools designed for travel.

Before taking off (and I do mean taking off) we met with Pan American and Boeing Aircraft officials for cocktails and dinner at Idlewild's gorgeous new "International Hotel."

During the day we viewed a number of important collections. Harvey Berin has inherited the title "Your Serene Highness" because of his lovely regal dresses. Full blown red roses splashed on black ottoman silk rightfully deserved the name "Victorian Rose."

SHEER CARDIGANS

An appealing idea is the long sleeve chiffon cardigan over a full skirted dance dress. Cut just as our well known cashmere cardigans, this wisp of chiffon just gives a covered up look for a dressy dinner date.

Maurice Rentner's release had red, white and blue ribbon stapled to one corner and corsages in the same theme were given to each of us.

He says, "Though we love the gay Frenchmen, adore the romantic Italians, and admire our British cousins, today we show you a brilliant collection as truly American as our stars and stripes!"

His shirtcoat of chiffon weight grey flannel with its matching skirt and grey printed silk overblouse, was one of the few fitted coats seen so far. Ruffled chiffon cape collars and ostrich leather skirt flounces gave femininity to his cocktail hour dresses.

His long, slender gowns could easily be called "Dots for Dancing," as he used polka dots of many sizes.

Favorite designer of all the gals, Herbert Sondheim was greeted by a great ovation. From pinchecks to silk chifon... Sondheim's collection wants you to know that "Alluring clothes are here again!"

He emphasizes the waistline, sometimes by a short jacket standing away from the body, or long and breezily open.

Went to the fights at Madison Square Garden to see "Ace" Armstrong and Eddie Dixon. It's fun to be there instead of seeing the bouts on TV.

Plymouth Theatre was filled with laughter the day the fashion group saw Claudette Colbert and Charles Boyer in "Marriage-Go-Round." This is the top show on Broadway at the moment and we were very grateful to "Petion" for this delightful treat.

Went to Sardis for coffee and sandwiches and a chat with the folks who make and promote Playtex girdles and brassieres. Many a yawn was smothered as you really are not supposed to look sleepy in a gay and famous night club even if you have been on the go since 6:30 in the morning.

L'Alliance Francaise, Thursday, 1014 Verrinder Avenue, 3:30 p.m.

$300 C.A.R.S. Bursary Set Up By Travellers

A donation of $300 has been given to the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society by the Nanaimo Club, Associated Canadian Travellers.

This money will establish a bursary for a Vancouver Island girl to train as a physiotherapist in Edmonton, Alta.

Miss Mary Pack, executive secretary for the B.C. division of C.A.R.S., said: "Due to the absence of a physiotherapy training school in B.C., girls wishing to take up this worthwhile career have to travel to one of the other provinces where the necessary courses are given.

"In the whole of Canada there are only four schools of physiotherapy, and this lack has resulted in a shortage of therapists."

Anyone wishing to follow this profession and take up the bursary supplied by Associated Canadian Travellers should contact C.A.R.S. in Vancouver.

Applicants should be of senior matriculation or first year university standard, with a Grade 12 standing in subjects required for admission to BSc course in the faculty of arts and science.

Edgelow Again Named to Head Celebration Body

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow was re-elected chairman of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Committee Tuesday night.

The committee, which co-ordinates May 24 celebrations, also elected Joseph Wright as vice chairman and Mrs. Ethel Bishop as secretary-treasurer.

New directors are Lieut. Ed MacFayden, Bill Heighes, Alec Marshall, Mrs. Annie McVie, Frank Hunter and Fred Graham.

Municipal representatives are Ald. D. J. Proudfoot, Victoria; Coun. E. E. DeCosta, Esquimalt; Gordon Elworthy, Oak Bay; and T. J. O'Neill, Saanich.

Ghana, the former Gold Coast state, is rich in manganese, gold and bauxite among other minerals.

Firms Scoff at Charges Call Girls Swing Sales

NEW YORK (AP) — Big corporations scoffed Tuesday at reports that American business uses call girls to convince important customers to buy.

A CBS radio program Monday night said sex swings many big deals, and that some companies even have prostitutes on their public relations payrolls or pay them on a regular monthly basis.

One girl told of making $25,000 a year tax free, arguing the companies claim the payments as a business expense.

The city's chief magistrate remarked Tuesday the use of sex in business is "true to a degree" but no one knows how much.

But more than two dozen firms in the fields of banking, manufacturing, oil, steel and utilities said they had never heard of any company employing prostitutes to increase sales.

"CEMENT FRIENDSHIPS"

One executive with a wide knowledge of the garment industry conceded that some sales managers may "cement friendships" with purchasing agents by including girls in an evening's entertainment.

"But if your product isn't good, he isn't going to buy it, no matter how many girls you bring in," he said.

The mayor, the district attorney and the police commissioner expressed immediate interest in the program, The Business of Sex, narrated by Edward R. Murrow.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said he will study the transcript and call for questioning of anyone who seems to have "knowledge of a crime."

WERE ANONYMOUS

All the participants in the hour-long show were anonymous but were introduced as prostitutes, executives and for construction of a proposed rail connection to Pine Point, N.W.T., from Grimshaw, Alberta. Such a route would parallel the B.C. border in the Peace River area and perhaps would eventually lead to a link-up with PGE. The new railway is a joint project of the CNR and CPR.

RAIL ROUTE

Alberta interests have advocated the rail route run northward along the eastern border of Alberta, a route which would connect indirectly with Edmonton. Development of the railway is expected to mean development of valuable lead and zinc deposits near Pine Point.

On his return, the premier, as minister of finance, will deliver his budget Feb. 6, according to his own prediction.

Caucuses of CCF and Social Credit members continued today at the Legislative Buildings. The eight-week performance they are shaping is guaranteed a good audience—at least for the formal house opening Thursday at 3 p.m. An estimated 650 persons will view the proceedings inside the legislative chambers, and hundreds more will see the military display outside, which begins at 2 p.m.

180 SEATS

There are 180 unreserved seats which will be made available on a first-come-first-served basis when the assembly opens.

Most of the watchers however, will be invited guests—350 seated on the floor where extra chairs are in place, and 125 in the speaker's gallery and ladies' gallery.

Starting time for ceremonies outside the Legislative Buildings is 2 p.m.—not 2:30 as previously announced.

A parade will be held on Belleville Street, which will be blocked from normal traffic. Taking part will be a 100-man honor guard from Comox RCAF station and the band of Victoria's 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron.

Fifteen-gun salute at the opening will be fired by 5th B.C. Medium Battery, RCA. Officers in charge will be Capt. T. G. Dalzell, Battery sergeant-major will be WO2 M. S. McDougall, Senior NCO's will be WO2 G. A. Warren, WO2 D. L. Elchoate, Sgt. K. Moskau, Sgt. S. D. Chalkley.

Whalen Re-Elected By Labor Council

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lloyd Whalen, defeated recently in his bid for re-election as local president of the International Woodworkers of America, has retained his post of president of the Vancouver Labor Council.

He was re-elected Tuesday night at the council's annual meeting as a representative of the Office Workers' Union. He won 221 votes to 98 for George Bullock, delegate of the Boilermakers' Union.

persons with first-hand knowledge of sex-influenced contracts.

Irving Gitlin, CBS public affairs director, said, in anticipation of Hogan's move, that "we will co-operate to the limits of our ability without violating our journalistic prerogatives." He said he had promised not to reveal names of any participants.

James R. Kennedy, first deputy police commissioner, said he is going to demand "names and places." He added, "we want to know who these call girls are and where they are and who the businessmen are."

Kennedy said, after an interview with Gitlin, "we got zero here." He said all CBS personnel "fully co-operated... to the limit they could" but he was given no names of prostitutes or their employers.

'A PRIVATE MATTER'

'Exclusive' Clubs Upheld by Court

TORONTO (CP) — Mr. Justice R. I. Ferguson has defended the rights of persons "with common interest and like intelligence" to choose each other's company.

Mr. Justice Ferguson said Monday in an Ontario Supreme Court judgment that a private club which restricts its membership to university graduates is not going against public policy.

John S. Galbraith, an engineer and member of the Madawaska Club Limited, a 1,804-acre property on Georgian Bay, was contesting a ruling by the club which prohibits children of members inheriting their parents' property unless the children too are University of Toronto graduates.

Mr. Galbraith claimed the rule "is socially undesirable and can scarcely fail to have an injurious effect upon those children who are excluded and made to feel inferior."

Mr. Justice Ferguson said: "In my view it is a private matter. If liberty to choose one's own companions and associates is to be denied to us, then the loss of liberty to pursue our own calling will shortly follow."

"It is of essence to our society that persons with common interest and like intelligence should seek each other's company and associations."

'Fake' Intern's Work Described to Court

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 28-year-old man who posed as an intern in a Vancouver hospital took part in the delivery of five children before his hoax was discovered, city prosecutor Stewart McMorran said Tuesday.

Jack Brett pleaded guilty in a police court hearing to dealing in a forged document and was remanded until Friday for a pre-sentence report.

In one case, Mr. McMorran said, a woman who was conscious during delivery asked Brett: "Is this your first delivery, Doc?"

Mr. McMorran said Brett posed as an intern for four weeks at St. Paul's Hospital as part of what Brett said was an magazine assignment. This assignment could not be substantiated.

Brett was at the hospital April 22, 1958, when he was dismissed because he could not produce the required certificates of qualification.

Later he revealed his presence in a newspaper interview here. He was arrested about a month ago in Regina and has been in custody since.

'Trying to Throttle Us' Labor Leader Charges

VANCOUVER (CP) — Suggestions put forward to the provincial government by the Heavy Construction Association of B.C. are an "attempt to throttle the labor movement," Bill Black, president of the B.C. Federation of Labor, said Tuesday.

He was commenting on an association brief to the provincial cabinet urging a ban on the closed shop, a change in legislation to make unions liable for damages under law, and other amendments to the labor code.

"The type of legislation they are asking the government to enact could only lead to chaos," Mr. Black said. The contents of the association brief "prove the contractors don't actually want industrial peace, they want war."

"The workers of British Columbia would never stand for it."

"In effect, what they want is the right to exploit the workers and improve their own standard of living."

"They forget there can be no prosperity in their industry, or any other industry, unless the workers are prosperous too."

Mr. Black added: "It ill behooves the association to present a brief of this nature to the government only one week after it has amicably signed a contract with the unions representing its employees."

McPHILLIPS

when a Liberal federal government under Prime Minister Mackenzie King came into power the outer harbor of Victoria remained without a promised second breakwater, the Macaulay Point breakwater. He suggested to the new Conservative government the time has come for the promise to be fulfilled.

DETERIORATE

Mr. McPhillips criticized the former Liberal government for taking docks away from the management of the department of public works in Victoria's outer harbor in 1923. It turned them over to the CNR, he said.

"But since then the CNR has allowed them to deteriorate and now the sheds along with those magnificent docks are in a state of dilapidation as a result of the maladministration of the CNR."

Speaking on the old CNR dock in the inner harbor, he said:

"We have never been able to find out how much money the Canadian National got for these docks because this big pooh-bah down in Montreal says he will not tell anybody."

"He sold an asset of the Canadian people, but he will not say how much he got for it."

"The first session I was here, I put a question on the order paper and got an answer. They said the date of sale was 1947, and it was sold to Evans, Coleman & Johnson Brothers," Mr. McPhillips said.

"However, the answer I really wanted does not appear. I was told it is not the policy of this government to give this sort of information."

Harold Winch interjected: "Ask the minister. He is a member of your own party."

Mr. McPhillips: "I know who I am going to ask. I am going to ask that fellow I mentioned before by description when he comes down on the committee, and I shall wring the answer out of him, do not worry."

"Because we had a government-owned dock all those years we should still have it. I ask the present government to replace that dock and that we get those facilities again where ships can come and pay reasonable dockage charges."

Mr. McMorran said hospital authorities became suspicious when Brett's qualifications did not materialize.

But before that, Brett delivered two children, assisted in the delivery of three more, attempted a spinal tap on one patient which was "abortive" and attempted an unsuccessful intravenous feeding on another.

During one of the deliveries at which he assisted, another doctor had to take over. A nurse had to assist on another.

Mr. McMorran said that in fairness to Brett, he must add that Brett never tried to do anything alone. There was either a nurse or senior intern present or within easy call.

The forgery involved an application for internship at the hospital which bore the forged signature of Dr. J. A. McFarlane, dean of the faculty of medicine at the University of Toronto.

Asking for a sentence of time spent in jail, defence counsel Craig said the only result of the "ill-conceived" prank was to expose a "lax state" in general on the part of hospitals.

Child Testifies In Death Hearing

A red-headed, freckle-faced boy spoke clear, unsworn eyewitness evidence at a preliminary hearing Tuesday in which Central Saanich farmer Adam Reisch is charged with manslaughter.

The witness was Dick Schut, 8½, brother of Arie Schut, six, who was shot through the chest and died within minutes only four days before Christmas.

The accused is Adam Reisch, 35, of Veyaness Road, who said he was shooting at a neighbor's dog that had molested his rabbits and was not aware of children playing next door on the Schut property.

After three hours of Crown evidence was given by six witnesses, Magistrate A. I. Thomas adjourned the hearing to Thursday, at 2 p.m., when evidence of three more children and Central Saanich police chief Fred Brownlee will complete the Crown's case.

Reisch's statement to police about shooting at a dog was supported by Dick Schut. The boy said he had heard the fatal shot as he played "armies" with his brother and friends, turned and saw from a distance that his younger brother was hurt.

"At about the same time, he said, he saw the dog, which he identified as Laddie, belonging to Glen Allan, one of his playmates at the time."

The dog stood behind the Schut's chicken yard in Reisch's field, Dick said.

On a chart showing buildings and features of the Schut farm and adjoining Reisch property, Dick pointed to a spot where he said he had seen Laddie standing still after the shot was fired.

It was in a direct line with places marked in previous evidence showing where Reisch stood when he fired the rifle and where Dick said he had seen his brother standing after the shot.

Knew He Was Going to Shoot Dog

The boy said Laddie would go to Reisch's place and break his rabbit cages so the rabbits would get out and the dog could chase them.

"You knew Adam was going to shoot the dog?" defence counsel Lloyd McKenzie asked.

"Yes," the boy replied.

"Everyone knew that, didn't they?" Mr. McKenzie asked.

"Yes," said the boy.

Reserve Constable James A. L. Wood told how he had taken a statement from Reisch after taking him into custody the afternoon of Dec. 21.

The statement was read by prosecutor T. P. O'Grady and entered as an exhibit. Reisch was quoted:

"I, Adam Reisch, do hereby voluntarily state I discharged a .22-calibre pump gun. I was shooting at a dog belonging to Mr. Allan which had been bothering my rabbits. I was standing behind a woodpile and shot in an easterly direction."

"Evidently I missed the dog because it ran away without yelping."

"When I discharged the gun I did not hear or see any children about."

Dr. Douglas B. Roxburgh,

291 King George, who performed a post mortem, said the bullet passed almost horizontally from the right to the left side of the upper chest just below the shoulders, although it stopped short of breaking the skin on the left side.

Death by excessive bleeding of lungs and aorta came "rather suddenly," the doctor said.

He recovered the bullet, which subsequently was sent with a rifle taken from Reisch's house to the RCMP crime laboratory in Regina for tests.

Dr. Roxburgh said there was no flattening or deformity of the bullet such as would be produced if it had struck a hard object.

Dick Schut Sr., father of the dead boy, said there had been a large patch of water on Reisch's land and indicated on the chart an area lying directly between where Cons. F. W. Wenden said Reisch had stood when he shot and where Arie's body was found.

This distance was about 260 feet, and from where Reisch stood to where he said he had seen the dog was about 90 feet, the hearing was told.

Police Abandon Search

NANAIMO (CP)—Search for a young Indian girl, presumed drowned between Kuper Island and Chemainus Bay, was called off Tuesday.

Beverly Joseph, 12, disappeared Friday with her sister Patricia, 14, after setting out in a six-foot skiff from the Kuper Island residential school. They were bound for a dance near Ladysmith.

Patricia's body was found washed up at Yellow Point on Sunday, but no trace has been found of Beverly or the skiff.

4 Rescued When Fishpacker Sinks

Four men were rescued before the 63-foot Vancouver fishpacker Kodiak sank off the west coast of Vancouver Island Tuesday night.

Taken aboard another fishpacker, Tahsis Chief, were skipper Edgar Arnet and his 22-year-old son, George, both of Vancouver. The other two men are unidentified.

The four men watched from the deck of the Tahsis Chief as their vessel sank five miles off the coast and about 20 miles south of Tofino.

The crew of the Tahsis was trying to put a line on the fishpacker when it went down at 10:50 p.m.

The Kodiak is owned by the Arnet Boat Company.

Capt. Erling Hagelin, coxswain of the Tofino lifeboat which answered the Kodiak's distress call along with seven other vessels in the area, said the fishpacker may have been holed by a deadhead. There was a lot of debris on the water, he said.

The Kodiak was inbound with a load of herring.

NANAIMO (CP)—Sittings of the Chant commission on education here, originally scheduled for February, have been postponed until March.

Elwood Miles, president of the Nanaimo District Teachers' Association, said today that the BCTF headquarters had informed him the sittings will be held here March 17, at Qualicum, March 18 and at Courtenay on March 19.

NANAIMO (CP)—The total value of building permits here during 1958 was $2,300,000, inspector Ben Boers says.

The figure compared with $2,739,524 in 1957.

The commercial building volume showed a drop in 1958 from 139 commercial permits with a value of $1,490,935 in 1957 to 143 permits with a value of $693,740 in 1958.

NANAIMO (CP)—The city council Tuesday turned down an application by Deeks-McBride & Company to build a factory site on Newcastle Avenue.

A vote on the money bylaw is expected to be held April 30. Construction could start by May, 1960. It's expected 30 months will be required to complete the structure.

A 200-bed hospital is planned, with immediate provision for 160 finished beds. Forty more finished beds can be completed as required. The building is designed so it can be doubled in size to a 400-bed hospital if the need arises.

Steel-Making Plant Urged by Union Man

Call for a steel-making plant to be built on the lower B.C. mainland has been made by Victoria electricians' union business manager Jack Driscoll.

He said such a plant would provide steady work for 2,000 men and "avoid the need for Canada to import a lot of its steel."

Mr. Driscoll said it was "ridiculous" that Canada should export iron ore from Port Hardy and Texada, then import steel.

"Why don't we make the steel right here in B.C.?" he asked. "The benefits would be enormous. We would save money and a lot of men could be put to work."

Victoria Labor Council secretary-treasurer A. W. Toone agreed such a project in B.C. would be valuable.

"If private capital is not available to construct it, then the B.C. government should set it up. The B.C. shipyards have always complained that one of their worst expenses is the cost of getting steel to the coast."

CAN 'SEE' 250 MILES

New B.C. Radar Unit Able to Spot Storms

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new type of radar just installed by the department of transport at Vancouver International Airport is expected to help airline pilots avoid flying into thunderstorms unexpectedly.

A meteorologist said Tuesday the radar unit's shot range will be further limited by a widespread rain, "just as you can't see too far in heavy rain."

On clear days, however, the device is expected to spot approaching storms when they are 250 miles away, but under adverse weather conditions its range will be reduced to about 50 miles.

But even though the radar may spot approaching storms, it won't make any difference to current weather forecasts. The reason: the weather a few days ahead depends on movements of huge systems far beyond the radar's range out over the Pacific Ocean.

"But it will be very useful for picking up storms and showers," the weatherman added.

FACTS ABOUT ALCOHOL 'SWEEP UNDER CARPET'

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Chant Royal Commission on education was told Tuesday that education about alcohol is "swept under the carpet" in British Columbia's high schools.

E. D. MacRae, executive director of the Alcoholism Foundation of B.C., told the commission "There is an extremely limited alcohol education program in the schools."

'Keep Boys and Girls Apart in Our Schools'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two retired principals Tuesday proposed an end to co-education in schools.

Dr. Archibald D. McRae, 90, founder and principal for 20 years of Calgary's West Canada College, said teachers "command more attention" and have better discipline when boys and girls are separated.

Both he and Frederick H. Bates, 74, retired headmaster of Chesterfield School for Boys in North Vancouver, addressed the second of three sittings here of the Chant Royal Commission on education.

Mr. Bates, whose school closed in 1943, termed co-education "one of our greatest mistakes."

Roy, Trigger Invited

Roy Rogers and his trained horse Trigger will be here for May 24th celebrations if a local horseman can sign the movie star for an appearance and obtain Royal Athletic Park for an international horse show May 16 and 18.

Price offered the cinema cowboy was $10,000. D. B. Carley, president of Victoria Riding and Hunt Club revealed after a meeting of Greater Victoria Celebrations committee.

"We wrote three weeks ago and so far we haven't got an answer," he said. "If Rogers is unavailable, Mr. Carley will try to bring James Arness, TV star of Gunsmoke, for the show."

But the whole deal will be off if the hunt club cannot get Royal Athletic Park for the Saturday and Monday of celebrations weekend, he said.

The club plans the biggest horse show ever to be staged here with competitors from Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and other U.S. centres vying with top Canadian riders in a full range of riding, jumping and western events.

The celebrations committee appointed a special sub-committee to meet all groups seeking Royal Athletic Park for celebrations events after Mr. Carley's bid was opposed.

Wes Goddard, past president of the Colwood Trail

Riders, said his club, in conjunction with the Victoria Motorcycle Club, wants to use the park May 18 for a joint show that has been presented annually for several years.

Mrs. Joan Dunbar, hunt club treasurer, countered with the argument that first choice of dates should be given groups with the longest association with the celebrations committee.

RAIN WINNING WEATHER FIGHT

Victoria perched precariously today on the verge of weather warrented to bring the unwanted white stuff—snow mixed with rain as two meteorological factions fought it out for possession of Vancouver Island—a mild and moist disturbance from the Pacific, and a mass of cold Arctic air from the Pacific.

The Island marked the dividing line between the two, with indications that the Pacific storm would slowly force back the cold air.

Temperatures dropped below freezing overnight, but are expected to reach between 35 and 38 degrees later today, remain there tonight and Thursday.

Skies will be cloudy with frequent precipitation.

Highway conditions on the Island are generally good. There is about three-quarters of an inch of snow on the Malahat; half-inch in Duncan area, where the highway has been sanded; light snowfall on the Island Highway, Wellington to Bloedel; two inches of new snow in the Alberni area, but the roads are sanded.

In most Greater Victoria areas, snow falling today melted almost as soon as it hit the ground except in sheltered areas, such as Beacon Hill Park (right).

CROSS-COUNTRY DRUG RING PROBED BY RCMP

MONTREAL (CP) — The RCMP said today they are investigating the possibility of the existence of a major drug traffic ring in Montreal that has connections in Toronto and Vancouver.

Inspector Rene Belec of the RCMP said a 25-year-old man was arrested Tuesday in a downtown tavern and 371 capsules of heroin concealed on his person were seized. "I can say now that there may be ramifications in this case in Toronto and Vancouver," the inspector said.

CPA Cracks TCA Monopoly Gets One National Route

One Flight Daily Allowed by Board

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian Pacific Airlines has won approval for a break in the government-owned Trans-Canada Air Lines' transcontinental monopoly. Transport Minister Hees informed the Commons today.

Tabling the report of the Air Transport Board on CPA's application for transcontinental domestic franchises, he announced he is prepared to accept these board findings:

1. CPA would operate a scheduled service between Vancouver - Winnipeg - Toronto - Montreal, connecting with CPA's existing international operations.

2. This new service would be limited to one flight a day, on which domestic as well as international passengers could be carried.

3. This arrangement should be reviewed in two years to see whether additional services would be warranted.

4. Where "limited controlled" competition would result in improving the position of regional air carriers, this should be authorized.

5. An extensive investigation of the position of regional carriers in this connection.

"I have informed the Air Transport Board that I am prepared to accept their findings in regard to the foregoing," Mr. Hees said in his statement to the House.

On another board recommendation—that a substantial

part of government work now being performed by the RCAF be transferred to commercial air carriers—the minister said this will require further careful consideration.

He said he proposes to consult with Defence Minister Pearson on this.

While giving CPA part of what it sought—though in a different form from what was asked—the Air Transport Board sharply cut it down from CPA's original proposals.

"The board found," Mr. Hees said, "that additional transcontinental air services could not be introduced at this time without major detrimental effects to existing operations and without economic hardships and possible disadvantages for scheduled airlines including the applicant (CPA).

3. Vancouver-Winnipeg-Toronto-Montreal.

4. Edmonton-Regina-Toronto.

5. Winnipeg-Ottawa-Montreal.

At hearings in Ottawa last November before the Air Transport Board, CPA suggested the board order TCA to discontinue two of its routes or give CPA a changed route pattern for its proposed transcontinental service.

The two TCA routes proposed to be discontinued were Calgary-Saskatoon and Edmonton-Toronto, which were started by the publicly-owned company in June, 1958.

CPA's argument for the change was that TCA, after CPA applied to the board for its franchise, had taken over two routes which CPA proposed to operate.

1. Vancouver-California-Saskatoon-Ottawa-Montreal.

2. Vancouver-Edmonton-Montreal.

Cubans Hail Castro's 'Justice'

500,000 Attend Havana Rally

HAVANA (UPI) — An estimated 500,000 Cubans massed before the presidential palace today to roar their approval of revolutionary justice. Havana wore a holiday air, but at least 22 more executions were reported from the interior.

The monster rally was called by Fidel Castro as a demonstration of the people's support for the provisional government's series of "war crimes" trials against the followers of ousted dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Already, more than 200 persons have died before firing squads as a result of these summary trials. Castro has said that 400 to 450 will die before the trials are finished.

NEW TRIALS

Army officials here said that a total of 1,450 will be tried in a new series of trials scheduled to get under way in Havana Thursday. About 600 of these are held in Havana's Cabana fortress.

Two U.S. congressmen and a group of American newsmen have been flown here to witness events in Cuba since Batista's overthrow Jan. 1.

Delegations of newsmen from other countries also have been brought in.

Twelve men were executed by firing squads in Pinar Del Rio this morning.

Eight others were executed at Jiguani in Oriente province, and two more at Cardenas in Matanzas province.

Eighteen others have been sentenced to death at Alto Songo in Oriente, the easternmost province of this island republic which was the scene of the fiercest fighting in the rebellion.

ATLAS ROCKET DUE TO FALL

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Smithsonian scientists were about ready today to close the books on 1958 Zeta, the astronomer's name for Atlas, the big American satellite launched last Dec. 18.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory has predicted that it would burn up high in the sky, probably over the Hawaiian Islands.

Premier Bennett also is expected to seek an answer to his proposal of last summer that the federal government pay half of B.C.'s above-normal 1958 forest fire-fighting costs—estimated at over $4,000,000 in total.

He also will seek a federal contribution toward the construction of the northern extension of the PGE to Fort St. John and Dawson Creek last year.

Slated for discussion too are proposed increases in federal aid on highway construction.

It is expected Premier Bennett also will advance his case

OTTAWA (CP) — A deportation order has been issued in the case of Leo Assino La-brada, former security officer with the Batista regime in Cuba who sought sanctuary in Canada, it was learned today.

The deportation order has been appealed and is expected to be received by the Immigration department this week.

Labrada arrived by plane at Montreal's Dorval airport early this week from the Dominican Republic.

The country office applied to immigration officials at Dorval airport for a temporary 60-day entry permit to visit his daughter, Mrs. Josephine Parres of St. Bruno, Que. His application was rejected and the deportation order issued.

More than 100,000 Indians assembled outside President Rajendra Prasad's residence.

As the duke and Nehru arrived there from the airport, the cheering, clapping crowd surged through the police cordon toward their car. Police were able to restore order, however.

At the airport about 100 school children and adults swamped him with garlands of brilliantly-colored flowers.

Finally, he began garlanding the children.

Bennett to Meet PM As Legislature Sits

By PETE LOUDON, Times Legislative Reporter
Premier Bennett will take time out from the legislative session, which begins Thursday to meet with Prime Minister Diefenbaker at Ottawa.

It is expected the premier will miss only two days of the session. He departs by air Jan. 29 and likely will be back Monday, Feb. 3.

The Ottawa talks had been set for late December but were postponed when Prime Minister Diefenbaker's world tour overlapped this date.

Matters to be discussed include a proposal by the prime minister this week, for wider use of a committee of provincial deputy finance ministers and economic advisers in discussions of current federal-provincial tax rental arrangements and possible inclusion of provincial finance ministers in such talks, instead of full conferences.

Philip Meets Nehru On Arrival in India

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prince Philip arrived in New Delhi today for the first visit by a member of the Royal Family since India gained independence in 1947.

About 2,000 Indians applauded as he stepped from a Comet jetliner and exchanged greetings with Prime Minister Nehru.

Most of the crowd had been waiting for more than three hours because a rare winter fog had closed in the airport and prevented the jet from landing on schedule. The Comet stopped at Agra, 125 miles to the south, until the weather cleared.

The weather also postponed the opening session of the Indian Science Congress 46th annual convention at which Philip is heading the British delegation.

More than 100,000 Indians assembled outside President Rajendra Prasad's residence. As the duke and Nehru arrived there from the airport, the cheering, clapping crowd surged through the police cordon toward their car. Police were able to restore order, however.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our Father, Thou dost know the sparrow's fall and art watching over us. Forgive us that we have so little trust in Thee. Thy fatherly care is over us day and night. When the shadows come, may we not doubt the sun. May we know that nothing happens to us that does not happen in part of Thee. So help us to pray, knowing that Thou dost care and art eager to help; through Christ, our Lord. Amen.

DeMILLE DIES

Pioneer movie maker Cecil B. DeMille, 77, died of a heart attack early today at his Hollywood home. (See story, page 6.)

19 Briefs Ready For School Probe

Nineteen briefs will be submitted at a two-day sitting of the royal commission on education opening Tuesday in Oak Bay Junior High School.

The briefs will be submitted by teachers' groups, Parent-Teacher Associations, various community organizations, private individuals and the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee.

Chairman of the commission is S. N. F. Chant, J. E. Liersch and R. P. Walrod are the other commissioners.

Main purpose of the investigation is focused on the school curriculum.

Ald. A. I. Curtis Friday will present the intermunicipal committee's brief which urges some radical changes including scrapping of the "progressive education" philosophy for more discipline.

It also calls for a reduction in school board supervisory staffs, a point of contention with the Greater Victoria school board.

Although the board will not submit a separate brief, it reaffirmed this week its belief that supervisors are necessary and there should be more rather than less.

McPHILLIPS LASHES BENNETT'S WEN-GREN GIVEAWAY

'Sawdust Caesar' Rankles City MP

Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Victoria Conservative MP A. DeB. McPhillips, Tuesday, called on Parliament to denounce the "giveaway" of Peace River power to the Wenner-Gren interests.

Mr. McPhillips, speaking in the Throne Speech debate, described Premier Bennett as "this sawdust Caesar who struts around the province like a barnyard rooster talking about the expenditure of millions and millions of dollars."

He lashed out at the Canadian National Railways for its sale of the government dock in Victoria Inner Harbor to Evans, Coleman & Johnson Ltd.

He denounced the CNR for turning over the operation of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel in Montreal to the American Hilton chain of hotels, and criticized the railway for not naming the hotel the Chateau Malonneuve.

Mr. McPhillips has gained a reputation for ranging over a wide variety of topics in colorful language during his speeches in Parliament. His Throne Speech effort was no exception.

It was in the closing minutes of his address that Mr. McPhillips turned to the Wenner-Gren deal.

"We have a very serious situation there now," he said. "He (Premier Bennett) may have fooled some, but he did not fool me with all this talk about mineral claims and this and that. No, it was the Peace River water power that they wanted."

"Now, he says, we have not given away anything. I have not given away a teaspoonful of water, nor yet. What he has done is this. He has put a reserve on that water and that land and only allowed this outfit to go in and make surveys."

"You know what is going to happen when the surveys are completed and they want to use it. No one else will be able to get it because this organization has it under reserve. There is just one hope for stopping this terrible giveaway, this terrible steal in the province of British Columbia, and that is action by the Parliament of Canada.

"The Peace River crosses the provincial boundary and flows into Alberta. This fact gives us a foothold to stop him under existing legislation we have something to say about it. I have every confidence that the government will take the proper steps in that connection," Mr. McPhillips said.

In the first part of his speech the Victoria member reviewed the history of the province of British Columbia and how it had fared under successive Conservative and Liberal federal governments. At one point he quoted from an article by Gus Siveritz in what he described as "the good old Liberal Victoria Times."

The member noted that

People and Things

LONDON—Botanist Jan Gillett jumped into ice-cold Leg of Mutton pond Monday night with a tape measure and proclaimed himself the victim of "petty dictatorship."

The scientist had been fined £10 earlier in the day for skating on the ice when the pond was thin and for obstructing a park policeman. Gillett, 40, an expert on African plants, contended there was no danger because the pond was less than five feet deep.

"When there is no danger, a regulation is an offence against the liberty of the subject making use of the park to get exercise and fresh air," he asserted.

After the hearing, Gillett drove to the park, changed into a swim suit and dived into the now-thawed pond. "There," he shouted, "it's only four feet deep. This is petty dictatorship."

WASHINGTON—Both Andrew W. Roland and Walter L. Stanley showed up in court Tuesday with housing problems.

Roland was being sued on a health department complaint that his home was too small for his family of nine.

In a separate case, Stanley was being sued for not paying his rent. He said his home was too big and expensive for his family of five.

In one stroke, both cases were settled. Roland and Stanley traded homes.

GARWOOD, N.J.—Mrs. Alice Conway is going to toss down a pint of sherry at the bar of justice.

Then, if she flunks a drunk-

ometer test, Magistrate James T. Leonard says he will find her guilty of drunken driving.

Mrs. Conway is a 63-year-old registered nurse from Plainfield. She was arrested Nov. 13 by a patrolman who found her slumped over the wheel and a jug of sherry in the back seat. A pint was missing.

She said she had taken a nip but was not intoxicated. Leonard agreed Tuesday to let Mrs. Conway down a pint of sherry in court Friday night to prove she can hold her wine.

LONDON—A young $42-a-week London engineer is citing textile millionaire Cyril Lord, 47, in proceedings for a separation from his blonde ex-model wife.

It was reported today that James Hussey, 26, cited Lord in reply to a divorce petition brought by his wife, Shirley, also 26, whom he married in 1955.

Last October Lord's wife, Bessie, filed for a divorce citing Mrs. Hussey.

DETROIT—Mrs. Blanche Hill indignantly called the Detroit housing commission and demanded:

"What happened? I had a seven-room house. Now all I've got is a vacant lot with an elm tree."

Officials said inquiries disclosed a wrecking crew with a bulldozer had gone one house too far in demolition of an area being cleared by the city for factory sites.

STILL CRITICAL

Alaska's first elected governor, William A. Egan, 44, remained in critical condition in a Seattle hospital today, but doctors said he is resting comfortably following emergency surgery Tuesday morning.

Longer Appeal Time Urged by Ratepayers

A resolution urging the provincial government to extend the appeal period against assessments on homes was to be considered today by an executive committee of the Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association.

The resolution, petitioning the provincial government to "give all property owners the right of 14 days to appeal from the date of mailing tax notices," was submitted by the North Oyster Ratepayers' Association.

The executive meeting was to be held at the Malahat home of former Victoria mayor Claude Harrison.

Alcan Ban on China Sale To be Queried by Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Pearson said today he will ask the government for assurances that no United States pressure was involved in the decision by the Aluminum Company of Canada not to sell aluminum to Communist China.

He told a reporter he will try to raise the issue at this afternoon's meeting of the Commons in questioning of Trade Minister Churchill. The CCF also plan to question Mr. Churchill on the issue.

A Vancouver dispatch Tuesday quoted exporter William S. Comer as saying the aluminum company refused to sell $1,000,000 worth of aluminum from its Kitimat, B.C. smelter to the Chinese mainland. Mr. Comer said he could not even obtain a firm quotation from the firm's west coast representative.

Aluminum was lifted from Canada's strategic controls list some time ago. These controls are designed to restrict shipment of certain strategic materials to Communist countries. Canadian production was reported curtailed last year because of a reduction in demand.

At Montreal, an Aluminum Company spokesman said the company refused to deal with China because it is not prepared to "hazard relations with its steady customers just to make an immediate sale."

"We would be derelict in our duty if we followed a short-sighted policy for immediate gain if it worked to the eventual disadvantage of our business and to the disadvantage of Canada as a whole," the spokesman said.

Mr. Pearson said he will seek his assurances because he believes the company is under U.S. control. The U.S. government has refused to allow American industry to trade with Red China.

The Aluminum Company said its decision was made in Montreal. Its parent company is Aluminum Limited, a Canadian company. A 1957 annual report shows that a majority of shares in Aluminum Limited are held in the U.S.

dina company. A 1957 annual report shows that a majority of shares in Aluminum Limited are held in the U.S.

Russia Has Atomic Sub

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Russia probably has an atomic-powered submarine in her big fleet, Rear-Admiral E. W. Grenfell said Tuesday. Grenfell, for the last two years commander of the Pacific Fleet Submarine Force, arrived on the Lurline from Honolulu en route to become assistant chief of naval operations for logistics. "We know the Russians have an atomic-powered icebreaker and the chances are 10 to 1 they have an A-sub somewhere," Grenfell told a press conference.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Kootenays 'Overlooked' Reaction to Royal Tour

(From CP Dispatches) TRAIL—Mayor L. A. Read of Trail, president of the Association of Kootenay Municipalities, expressed disappointment Tuesday that the area has been overlooked in the itinerary of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

Mr. Read said that after being overlooked last year during the visit of Margaret, the Kootenays should expect some recognition this year.

"I understand," Mayor Read said, "that Prince Philip expresses keen interest in industry. It would appear that he will miss an opportunity to see some of B.C.'s largest industry during the proposed tour. Apparently both the federal and provincial governments have chosen to overlook the Kootenays once again."

SEARCH CALLED OFF

PRINCE RUPERT—Search for three men missing since Jan. 9 in the area of Zenardi Rapids, about 12 miles south of here, has been officially called off. Object of intensive searches since they took off in a 12-foot skiff are Horace Holt, Carl Simonds and Joseph Stace-Smith.

'SONS' RAIDED

TRAIL—RCMP made an unexpected raid on two Kootenay villages Monday in search of truant Sons of Freedom Doukhobor children.

They picked up four children at the Freedomite settlements of Krestova and Shoreacres and continued searching for about 50 others.

The four were taken to the provincial government dormitory school at New Denver to join other Sons of Freedom children whose parents refuse to send them to school.

MURDER HEARING SET

VANCOUVER—A preliminary hearing into a charge of murder against William O'Grady, 19, of Vancouver, will open in police court here Jan. 26.

The charge was laid in connection with the stabbing of Able Seaman Jackson A. Brown, 23, of Vancouver and HMCS Naden. Brown was found dead in a basement apartment here Jan. 3.

PRINTERS TO STRIKE

VANCOUVER—International Typographical Union members will go on strike late Thursday at about 20 commercial printing shops in Vancouver, plant owners were told Tuesday.

MISSING PAIR SEEN

VANCOUVER—Special Crown Prosecutor Russell Twining Tuesday told a Vancouver police magistrate that two people reported "missing" Monday in a rented rowboat had been seen by police that night in the downtown area.

Magistrate Oscar Orr issued bench warrants for the arrest of Gerald Byrne, 37, and Darlene Lasalle, 29, who failed to appear in court on charges of possession of narcotics. They had been free on $1,000 bail each.

DUNCAN—Vandals have ripped down a memorial arch at the entrance to Mape Mountain Park, centennial project of North Cowichan. Reeve C. A. P. Murison reported to the municipal council.

A council member said they must have used jacks to pry the large wooden posts of the arch from the ground.

Christian Science can make life worth living

Beyond the demands of just "making a living" everyone wants to feel his life has purpose and usefulness. We all encounter this question: "What am I here for?"

Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy shows where the answer lies—in an understanding of what God is, and therefore what man, made in God's likeness, must be.

This book shows the way to satisfaction, health and abundance as we learn how to live according to the teachings of Christ Jesus.

Science and Health may be read or borrowed at any Christian Science Reading Room. Send $3 for a copy postpaid.

Industrials Gain As Toronto Eases

Industrials rallied for a slight gain but the rest of the Toronto stock market was easier today in moderately active mid-afternoon trading.

Industrials overcame some profit-taking to gain. Golds dipped a few decimal points. Today's volume was considerably lower than Tuesday's. Steels and oils were strong as the New York market widened its gains in active trading today. Youngstown Sheet and DuPont were both ahead. Oils rallied with gains well over a point by Standard Oil (Nef Jersey) and Royal Dutch. Superior Oil of California was ahead 100 points at one phase.

At Toronto an offer of Dominion Tar and Chemical to purchase gypsum line featured industrial activity.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CPI) — Trade reports indicated substantial export business in Canadian grains today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Japan was reported to have purchased 4% cargoes of wheat. A substantial quantity of barley was said to have been bought for the United Kingdom and good quantities of flax were destined for France.

Barley trade was active reflecting the export interest. Oats business was chiefly domestic. Prices for both grains were firm.

AT LONDON the stock market moved higher today after its two-day shake-out. Glit-edged securities also improved from a shaky opening.

Dollar issues were generally better in response to the overnight rise on Wall Street.

South African goods were selectively better, oils found improved support, coppers moved irregularly and ship-building shares were lower.

AT VANCOUVER there was little price change on a moderate market during the afternoon. Prosper traded 6,000 at 22 1/2, Cowichan Copper moved 5,000 at 10 1/4; Trojan sold 23,000 at 23; Canadian Collieries preferred sold 8,000 at 71.

trucks will pull in off Herald, climb a ramp and dump loads down concrete chutes into semi-trailers below which will haul the garbage to a sanitary landfill site in the Highlands District. Hauling contract was awarded to Norman Copely last year. Times Photo

MONTÉ ROBERTS

So you want to know why I am limping, so I'll tell you, and you'll laugh.
I know you will, because everyone else laughs.
You see, the reason I am on the limp is, I stubbed my toe.
And it appears that a stubbed toe is the funniest thing in the world.
People do not laugh at you if you have a fractured wrist or a broken shoulder or a clobbered clavicle.
People are sympathetic if you get measles or whooping cough or scarlet fever or beriberi or even the common cold.
But people have no sympathy for you if you stub your toe.
Yesterday I took my stubbed toe down to the emergency ward at the hospital, to find out if it was broken, fractured, dislocated, bent or merely bruised.
So the head nurse in emergency took down my name and number and asked me the nature of my trouble.
"Stubbed my toe," I told her, and the head nurse laughed merrily.
So I went and sat in the waiting room, waiting for the doctor, and a man with his arm in a sling asked me what was the matter.
"Stubbed my toe," I told him, and the man with his arm in a sling laughed merrily.
So the doctor came and the doctor asked me what was the matter.
"Stubbed my toe," I said, and the doctor laughed merrily.
Not to make too protracted a narrative of the matter, among those also laughing merrily were: the nurse who tried to put me in a wheelchair to take me to the X-ray machine; the X-ray nurse who tried to put me in a wheelchair to take me to the X-ray machine; the nurse who tried to put me in a wheelchair to take me out of the building; all members of the staff of this newspaper; my favorite wife and all her friends; and even my five-month-old granddaughter, but you can't really count her as she laughs merrily at all times.
So you want to know why I am limping?
"Stubbed my toe."
Go ahead, laugh.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Rubber cheque "season" in Victoria has left two city businessmen short $244.30 by accepting worthless cheques since Jan. 10.
Police seek a man who wrote two cheques on a Vancouver bank, both of which were returned marked "no funds."
Second-hand store operator Arthur Loo, 1314 Government, told police Monday he accepted a cheque for $214.30 for some tools and Sims Auto Supply, 851 Yates, said a cheque for $30 was cashed.
Prof. R. J. Bishop, professor of English at Victoria College, will propose the toast of "The Immortal Memory at the annual dinner of the Dickens Fellowship Victoria branch at the Y.W.C.A. on Saturday, Feb. 7. This marks the 147th anniversary of Charles Dickens' birth.
Miss Pamela Paver will be the soloist and E. F. Watherston, branch president, will be in the chair.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Has unemployment insurance money been put in a separate fund and earmarked for unemployment insurance purposes, or has it been put into the general fund?—T.W.
A.—A separate fund cannot be used for any other purpose under existing legislation.
Q.—What is the population of North America, Central America and South America?—M.S.
A.—These are approximate figures: North America, 207,000,000; Central America, 1,000,000; and South America, 104,000,000.
Q.—Approximately a quarter of the world's population is in the Americas. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

'Many Errors' By Judge Says Appeal

The argument that the judge in the Mantha murder case "corrected so many errors in his charge to the jury that the jury could not be expected to have clearly understood the law," is one of eight grounds of appeal filed on Mantha's behalf today.
The defence also is appealing on the ground that "the judge erred in imposing the death sentence twice."
Leo Anthony Mantha, 31-year-old tugboatman, was sentenced Dec. 17 to hang March 17 for the stabbing murder Sept. 6 of Naden sailor Able Seaman Aaron "Bud" Hetherington Jenkins, 23.
In Assize Court Mr. Justice J. G. Rutland first sentenced Mantha to hang March 19 then, after the prisoner had been taken from the court room, realized he had erred in the date, and recalled him.
The judge then sentenced Mantha a second time, this time to hang March 17.
The notice of appeal lists six other grounds for appealing the murder conviction.
Included are the arguments that the judge erred in admitting evidence of inculpatory (self-blaming) statements, in failing to outline Mantha's chief defence, in his definition of reasonable doubt during his charge to the jury and, in the trial within a trial, in permitting crown counsel to cross-examine Mantha concerning the truth of certain statements.
The appeal also lists as grounds the premise that the jury failed to give Mantha the benefit of doubt.

Hibbard to Head Heart Fund Drive

Rear Admiral J. C. Hibbard (Ret.) will be chairman of the Vancouver Island Division of the Canadian Heart Fund annual money-raising campaign which starts Feb. 1.
The campaign supports the research, education and community service programs of the B.C. Heart Foundation and the other provincial foundations.

Father of Four Said He Stole To Build Bath

Rienhold Gerz of Victoria said he stole in order to build a bath for his children.
He pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of theft under $50 value from Hudson's Bay Co. Tuesday afternoon, and was fined $25 or five days in jail.
Court was told Gerz took three screwdrivers and a cigarette lighter from a counter, went out of the store and re-entered to take a shirt which he put under his coat. Total value of the items was about $18.
Gerz, unemployed and with four children, said he had never stolen before.

New Goodwill Appointments As Firm's Payroll Expands

Mrs. Nina Clarke is now in charge of the production department of Goodwill Enterprises, with Mrs. Carol Gibbs, a graduate nurse, in charge of sales.
In a report issued today by the board of directors, growth during the first year of operation was outlined, with the number of handicapped persons employed increasing to 40 by the end of 1958.
This success was largely due to the continued generosity of the residents of Greater Victoria, the report states.
All of those employed by Goodwill Enterprises are victims of muscular dystrophy, poliomyelitis, speech and hearing impairment, or various degrees of emotional and nervous disorders.
An anniversary tea will be held Feb. 7 at the War Amputees' Hall. The tea is being arranged by the Ladies' Auxiliary to Goodwill Enterprises, assisted by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Victoria Rotary Club.
The Ladies' Auxiliary, the Quins Nicholas Service League, was organized recently through the efforts of Mrs. E. Lamont. The board of directors paid tribute to the "very valuable service" rendered by Mrs. Lamont, who until recently was in direct charge of the active management.

DRIVER BREAKS DOWN AT TRAFFIC INQUEST

'I Screeched and Grabbed the Baby'

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
A motorist broke down and wept at a coroner's inquest today as he described the two-car collision which resulted in Victoria's first traffic fatality of 1959.

A six-man jury returned a verdict of accidental death on Edward D. Miles, 36, of 3366 Wordsworth, who died in Royal Jubilee Hospital Sunday from injuries sustained in the crash at Scott and Ryan Streets Jan. 13, five days earlier.

The jury attached no blame to anyone involved in the accident. But Clare L. Brown of 2664 Scott, the driver of the second car, was so deeply distressed he had difficulty giving his evidence at the inquest at Sands Mortuary.

Mr. Brown was driving north on Scott Street with his wife and their 18-month-old child.

FAIRLY GOOD VIEW

"We were going towards the intersection of Ryan Street," he said brokenly, "and there was a fairly good view to the left and right."

"I started to go into the intersection as there appeared to be no car coming... I was still looking to the right. I could see this other car on my right but it seemed to be a good distance away..."

Then I realized he was going too fast to get across. I put on my brakes and tried to turn off to the left..."

At this point Mr. Brown broke down and wept for several minutes and the court waited in silence until he was able to continue.

Deputy Coroner Dr. J. H. Moore then asked him if he remembered the impact, and he said:

"His car struck the side of mine..."

Mrs. Shirley Brown estimated her husband was driving at about 20 miles an hour when they approached the Ryan Street intersection.

SAW IT COMING

"Just as we were going through the intersection, I saw the other car coming. It was coming so fast that I screeched and grabbed the baby... What did your husband do? asked Lloyd McKenzie, appearing for Mr. Brown. Mrs. Brown: "As soon as I screeched, he put on the brakes right away."

Police witnesses said it appeared from the skid marks that both motorists slammed on their brakes about the same time. The crash caused the door on the driver's side of Mr. Miles' car to fly open and he was thrown to the pavement between the two cars.

Dr. John Harvey, who attended Mr. Miles in hospital after the accident, said he suffered a fractured skull, and injuries to the brain, and other injuries.

His son, Terry, 7, a passenger in the car, was treated in hospital for bruises but was released the same day.

'We Can Make It Pay'—PWA

Private Line Bids For TCA 'Triangle'

By HAL MALONE, Times Business Editor

Fast-growing Pacific Western Airlines announced overnight it has applied to the Air Transport Board to take over the allegedly non-profitable Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle air service from Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Community leaders, at first disposed to call for a public inquiry into the future of Victoria-mainland service, later indicated they would not oppose the application if PWA shows it will maintain the same service provided by TCA.

If it's application is successful, PWA said it plans:

1. To introduce C46 aircraft, capable of carrying 58 passengers and two tons of freight as opposed to TCA's DC3 aircraft which can handle 28 passengers and a few hundred pounds of freight;
2. To operate 10 flights daily between Vancouver and Victoria (TCA operates 12 daily flights);
3. To charge the same fare—$5 each way—between Victoria and the mainland.

QUICK REACTION

The PWA announcement brought an immediate reaction from Conway Parrott, president, Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and Mayor Percy Scourrah.

Mr. Parrott said the application should be the subject of a full public inquiry at which all interested parties could present their views and satisfy themselves that the requirements could be met.

Mayor Scourrah said that if another airline takes over the run "I think it only fair to ask that company to show its ability to give at least as frequent a service as we have received from TCA" at the existing fare level and with no deterioration in service.

Later, John Coppinger, managing secretary of the Chamber, said that questions of maintaining the service and fare structure might easily be settled with PWA without the need for a public inquiry.

PWA's move was seen as acceptance of a challenge thrown out by TCA at the Air Transport Board hearings into Canadian Pacific Airlines' bid for a transcontinental franchise.

BIG LOSS

TCA counsel John Edison told the ATB that certain TCA lines cost the company money. He cited the Victoria-Vancouver-Seattle run as an example and fixed the annual operating loss at $1.3 millions.

PWA told the Air Transport Board that if Mr. Edison's remarks were intended as a challenge, PWA would accept. F. A. Welbourn, PWA's press relations and advertising manager, said in Victoria Tuesday the company expects to make a "fair and reasonable" profit if the ATB approves its application. He said a fair profit estimate had been submitted to the ATB but declined to disclose it until the application has been accepted upon.

NOT TRUE FIGURE

TCA's alleged loss of $1.3 millions is a "paper figure" and not necessarily a "true figure," Mr. Welbourn said. Since TCA charges a common fare between Winnipeg and Victoria, it suffers no large loss if a Winnipeg traveller departs in Vancouver and the seat he would have occupied on the flight to Victoria is un-

WILLIAM ROWLES ... it worked for him

95-YEAR-OLD: It's Healthier To Nudge That Grudge

One way of achieving longevity is never to hold a grudge against anyone, according to William Rowles, 95, who is celebrating his 95th birthday today with members of his family.

The six-foot tall Canadian farmer, still in good health, said he, the lack of tolerance and understanding for others are main factors contributing toward illness.

The prescription for longevity seems to have worked for Mr. Rowles.

He took up five-pin bowling a year ago, walks and travels extensively around the city, and takes an active interest in world affairs.

Born in Castlecombe, Wiltshire, England, he came to Canada with his wife in 1888. That was only three years after the Louis Riel rebellion was crushed by the Canadian government.

HERE 10 YEARS

He first farmed in Manitoba and later moved to Saskatchewan in 1912 where he remained until 1948. He has been in Victoria 10 years.

A few years ago, the Saskatchewan Government was so impressed by his farming record, it named a lake after him.

"I came to Canada because my wife was ill and was not expected to live," he said. "She picked up as soon as we settled on the prairies and died only four years ago at the age of 91."

Mr. Rowles had five children, one died in his early twenties. He has now 12 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

ONE OF THE TOP AWARDS made to students in the engineering field, an Athlone fellowship, has been won by Stanley Ross Clark, 974 Bruce St., Nanaimo. A graduate of Nanaimo High School now attending University of British Columbia. The fellowships provide for two years of advanced practical work in research in the United Kingdom. Mr. Clark will leave for England during the summer, where he will do advanced work in electrical engineering.

MILL STRIKE ACTION

Justice Manson
Raps B.C. Gov't

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia government was chastised in open court today by a B.C. Supreme Court justice for its on-and-off legal action over a brief plywood mill strike.

Mr. Justice A. M. Manson said the government's decision not to proceed in the case comes "pretty close to an abuse of the process of the court."

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks applied last Friday for the court to rule on the legality of a wildcat strike by 400 members of International Woodworkers of America at the nearby Port Moody plant of Canadian Collieries Resources Limited.

The men walked out Wednesday because an employee was dismissed for carelessness. They returned to work Monday and Mr. Wicks announced he was dropping the court action because he didn't want to "persecute" anyone.

The action was scheduled to have been heard today. Mr. Justice Manson told the court, instead, that the counsel for the Labor Relations Board had advised him the proceedings would not be continued.

"That is all very well, but there was a point of law to be determined," Mr. Justice Manson said.

"Strikes are either legal or illegal, and when the point is raised it should be decided, not only on the particular occasion, but also so that the decision may be a guide to employers and unions in similar future cases."

"To discontinue proceedings after they have been initiated upon a point of law is coming pretty close to an abuse of the process of the court."

"That is all very well, but there was a point of law to be determined," Mr. Justice Manson said.

"Strikes are either legal or illegal, and when the point is raised it should be decided, not only on the particular occasion, but also so that the decision may be a guide to employers and unions in similar future cases."

"To discontinue proceedings after they have been initiated upon a point of law is coming pretty close to an abuse of the process of the court."

The men walked out Wednesday because an employee was dismissed for carelessness. They returned to work Monday and Mr. Wicks announced he was dropping the court action because he didn't want to "persecute" anyone.

The action was scheduled to have been heard today. Mr. Justice Manson told the court, instead, that the counsel for the Labor Relations Board had advised him the proceedings would not be continued.

BENNETT TO SEEK AID
IN TALKS AT OTTAWA

2 HURT IN 3-CAR CRASH

Two women were taken to Jubilee Hospital with unspecified injuries after a three-car pile-up at Kings and Blanshard at 11.30 a.m. today. They were identified as Mrs. Barbara Shea, 3780 Carey, believed to have head and chest injuries, and Mrs. May Carey, 1378 Hillside, who was undergoing X-ray examination at noon.

Mrs. Shea was driver of the small car at left, which was in collision with the late-model auto driven by Andrew Carey, which skidded broadside out of control. Carey said he swerved to miss a U-Drive truck, at rear, driven by Leonard H. Sudlow, 1640 Burnside. Both men escaped injury.

CPA Cracks
TCA Monopoly

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian Pacific Airlines has won approval for a break in the government-owned Trans-Canada Air Lines' transcontinental monopoly, Transport Minister Hees informed the Commons today.

Tabling the report of the Air Transport Board on CPA's application for transcontinental domestic franchises, he announced he is prepared to accept these board findings:

1. CPA would operate a scheduled service between Vancouver—Winnipeg—Toronto—Montreal, connecting with CPA's existing international operations.

2. This new service would be limited to one flight a day, on which domestic as well as international passengers could be carried.

3. This arrangement should be reviewed in two years to see whether additional services would be warranted.

4. Where "limited control" competition would result in improving the position of regional air carriers, this should be authorized.

5. An extensive investigation of the position of regional air carriers in this connection.

"I have informed the Air Transport Board that I am prepared to accept their findings in regard to the foregoing," Mr. Hees said in his statement to the House.

On another board recommendation—that a substantial part of government work now being performed by the RCAF be transferred to commercial air carriers—the minister said this will require further careful consideration.

He said he proposes to consult with Defence Minister Peakes on this.

While giving CPA part of what it sought—though in a different form from what was asked—the Air Transport Board sharply cut it down from CPA's original proposals.

"The board found," Mr. Hees said, "that additional transcontinental air services could not be introduced at this time without major detrimental effects to existing operations and without economic hardships and possible disadvantages for scheduled airlines including the applicant (CPA)."

RAIN WINNING
WEATHER FIGHT

Victoria perched precariously today on the verge of weather warranted to bring snow mixed with rain. Two meteorological factions fought it out for possession of Vancouver Island—a mild and moist disturbance from the Pacific, and a mass of cold Arctic air.

The island marked the dividing line between the two, with indications that the Pacific storm would slowly force back the cold air.

Temperatures dropped below freezing overnight, but are expected to reach between 35 and 38 degrees later today, remain there tonight and Thursday.

Skies will be cloudy with frequent precipitation.

Highway conditions on the island are generally good. There is about three-quarters of an inch of snow on the Malahat; half an inch in Duncan area, where the highway has been sanded; light snowfall on the Island Highway, Wellington to Blodet; two inches of new snow in the Alberni area, but the roads are sanded.

In most Greater Victoria areas, snow falling today melted almost as soon as it hit the ground except in sheltered areas, such as Beacon Hill Park.

Will Meet PM
During Session

By PETE LOUDON, Times Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett will take time out from the legislative session, which begins Thursday to meet with Prime Minister Diefenbaker at Ottawa.

It is expected the premier will miss only two days of the session. He departs by air Jan. 29 and likely will be back Monday, Feb. 3.

The Ottawa talks had been set for late December but were postponed when Prime Minister Diefenbaker's world tour overlapped this date.

Matters to be discussed include a proposal by the prime minister this week for wider use of a committee of provincial deputy finance ministers and economic advisers in discussions of current federal-provincial tax rental arrangements and possible inclusion of provincial finance ministers in such talks, instead of full conferences.

Premier Bennett also is expected to seek an answer to his proposal of last summer that the federal government pay half of B.C.'s above-normal 1958 forest fire-fighting costs—estimated at over $4,000,000 in total.

He also will seek a federal contribution toward the construction of the northern extension of the PGE to Fort St. John and Dawson Creek last year.

Slated for discussion too, are proposed increases in federal aid on highway construction.

It is expected Premier Bennett also will advance his case Continued on Page 30

Cubans Hail
Castro's
'Justice'

HAVANA (UPI)—An estimated 500,000 Cubans massed before the presidential palace today to roar their approval of revolutionary justice. Havana wore a holiday air, but at least 22 more executions were reported from the interior.

The monster rally was called by Fidel Castro as a demonstration of the people's support for the provisional government's series of "war crimes" trials against the followers of ousted dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Already, more than 200 persons have died before firing squads as a result of these summary trials. Castro has said that 400 to 450 will die before the trials are finished.

NEW TRIALS

Army officials here said that a total of 1,450 will be tried in a new series of trials scheduled to get under way in Havana Thursday. About 600 of these are held in Havana's Cabana fortress.

Two U.S. congressmen and a group of American newsmen have been flown here to witness events in Cuba since Batista's overthrow Jan. 1. Delegations of newsmen from other countries also have been brought in.

Twelve men were executed by firing squads in Pinar Del Rio this morning.

Eight others were executed at Jiguaní in Oriente province, and two more at Cardenas in Matanzas province.

Eighteen others have been sentenced to death at Alto Songo in Oriente, the easternmost province of this island republic which was the scene of the fiercest fighting in the rebellion.

19 Briefs
School Probe

Nineteen briefs will be submitted at a two-day sitting of the royal commission on education opening Tuesday in Oak Bay Junior High School.

The briefs will be submitted by teachers' groups, Parent-Teacher Associations, various community organizations, private individuals and the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee.

Chairman of the commission is S. N. F. Chant, J. E. Liercher and R. P. Walrod are the other commissioners.

Ald. A. I. Curtis Friday will present the intermunicipal committee's brief which urges some radical changes including scrapping of the "progressive education" philosophy for more discipline.

CROSS-COUNTRY DRUG RING PROBED BY RCMP

MONTREAL (CP)—The RCMP said today they are investigating the possibility of the existence of a major drug traffic ring in Montreal that has connections in Toronto and Vancouver.

Inspector Rene Belec of the RCMP said a 25-year-old man was arrested Tuesday in a downtown tavern and 371 capsules of heroin concealed on his person were seized. "I can say now that there may be ramifications in this case in Toronto and Vancouver," the inspector said.
